MISS CALIFORNIA WEARS CROWN—Susan Bronson, 19-year-old San Lorenzo girl, was named Miss California of 1959 in Santa Cruz late Saturday night. Another Miss California was crowned Saturday night for entry in the Miss Universe contest in Long Beach. (See page 7).

A PRIZE WINNER

Tami Reigns As 'Miss Congeniality'

Miss Marin of 1959, pert, pulchritudinous and personable Tami Evans of Mill Valley, made a big hit at Santa Cruz' "Miss California" Pageant with the judges, the spectators and her rival contestants.

The 31 other girls from throughout the state who vied with her for the title of "Miss California" and other honors voted Tami the "Miss Congeniality" of 1959.

The coveted honor goes annually to the girl considered by the competing beauties to have been the friendliest and most personable member of their ranks.

Along with the honor goes a $200 scholarship from the California Pepsi-Cola Bottlers and a $100 Spence-Reese Award.

Pageant judges also awarded "Miss Marin" first place in the miscellaneous section of the talent competition for her novelty song and dance number.

For this she received another $250 scholarship from the Pepsi-Cola bottlers.

"Miss Marin" also brought back from Santa Cruz to her home at 141 Shelley drive, Mill Valley, a bevy of merchandist prizes she collected during her stay at the pageant.

Tami, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans and a Tamalpais High School graduate now employed as a legal secretary in San Francisco.

Dick Miller, executive director of the junior chamber of commerce sponsored 1959 Miss Marin County Pageant where Tami won the right to represent this area at Santa Cruz, said this morning that "we are all very proud of the showing our representative made at the state pageant. The 'Miss Congeniality' title is one all the girls are especially anxious to win."

Some 40,000 persons watched yesterday's pageant program at Santa Cruz and saw Diane Bronson of San Lorenzo, a 19-year-old blonde, crowned "Miss California."

Novato Area Still In Running For State College Site

Potential Locations Pared To 7

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

SACRAMENTO — Possible sites for the proposed North Bay state college were reduced to seven this morning, with Marin County's Novato site still in the running.

The state Public Works Board decided to come to the North Bay area June 29 to inspect the Novato site, one near Petaluma, one near Santa Rosa, one north and another south of the city of Sonoma, one west of the state mental hospital at Napa, and the seventh adjacent to the fairgrounds at Vallejo.

Board chairman Bert Levit, state director of finance, said the board would review with its staff other possible sites it might visit, but in general the seven named were determined to be the best of 42 which had been proposed.

At the same time H. C. Vincent Jr., chief of the property acquisition division, state Department of Finance, told the board the Department of Education had decided to triple the ultimate size of the college.

He said it had been planned for 4,000 to 5,000 students, but now the education department is planning on an ultimate enrollment of 15,000 by the year 2000.

Dr. J. Burton Vasche, chief of the state Division of State Colleges, said the division is putting its target date now at the year 2000 instead of 1970.

The change will mean that whatever college site is selected will be 300 acres in-

HUCK FINN?—Walter Beech, 13, of Tiburon, looking every bit like Huckelberry Finn, will go to Hollywood tomorrow to try out for a role in a forthcoming film of the American classic. Walter, joined by his dog, Mike, reads the Mark Twain book, as a fishing rod rests across his lap. (Photo by Bob Hax)

HUCKLEBERRY FINN

Tiburon Boy, 13, To Get Film Test

Every boys acts like Huck Finn (at least anxious mothers get that impression) but Walter Beech, a 13-year-old who lives on the hilly Tiburon peninsula, may get a chance to act the movie role of Huck Finn.

Tomorrow he will board a Greyhound bus for Hollywood and a date to see Sam Goldwyn Jr. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer is expecting him.

Then it will be decided if Walter is the boy to portray Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn on the screen. MGM is scheduled to commence shooting the film in October.

Walter, a boy who throws rocks at tin cans, climbs fences, plays war, fishes in the bay, explores the grassy Tiburon hillsides with his dog, Mike, and sometimes sleeps in his tree-house fort, also has tried his hand at the acting profession.

He has studied dramatics under Bert and Ellen Bennett of Tiburon, and Ann and John Brebner of the Sausalito Little Theater. Last year he was one of the four to act in "The Innocents" in Sausalito. This summer he will be in the "Wind and the Willows." In May he was in the Mountain Play, cast as Jan the Lame Boy in the "Pied Piper."

Walter will be in the eighth grade at Reed School in the fall. He is the son of Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News Far Eastern correspondent, and Mrs. Mildred Beech of Centro West, Tiburon.

Will he be Huck Finn? He may know the answer when he boards the bus Thursday to return home.

New 'Miss California' Shrugs At Criticism Of Teen-Agers

SANTA CRUZ (AP)—Miss California of 1959, a gorgeous 19-year-old blonde, doesn't think criticism of her generation is justified.

But Susan Diane Bronson of San Lorenzo isn't worrying her pretty head about it.

"My mother said her generation was criticized, too," she told judges who selected her Saturday night from a lineup of 32 candidates.

A crowd of 30,000 saw the San Jose State coed crowned yesterday. Last year's Miss California, Sandra Lee Jennings, pinned the big satin ribbon across her swim suit.

Shapely, green-eyed Susan, who was Miss Southern Alameda County, stands 5 feet 8½ inches, and measures 36-23-36.

Although she has studied dancing for 11 years, she hopes to become a fashion buyer. Handy around home, Susan sews and designs her own clothes. She likes swimming and tennis.

She wowed the sell-out crowd at the finals with her interpretation of a happy longshoreman dancing to modern jazz.

Asked what she is proudest of, Susan said, "I don't know if you'd call it an accomplishment but I'm proud of the love I've had from my family."

Miss California will represent this state at the Miss America contest in Atlantic City later this summer.

Runners-up for the state title were Nancy Fish, Miss Santa Barbara; Jonelle Johnson, Miss Marysville-Yuba City, who finished third carrying a black eye she suffered in an auto crash on Thursday; Lee Green, Miss Glendale, and the dark haired twins who shared the Miss Palo Alto title, Elizabeth and Patricia Gullison.

The contestants elected Tami Jo Evans, 18, of Mill Valley as "Miss Congeniality." The College of Marin coed was Miss Marin County.

Russ Leader In N. Y., Keeps Police Jumping

NEW YORK (AP) — The First Deputy Premier of the Soviet Union, Frol R. Kozlov, took a walk today—to the vast dismay of police.

Passing up arrangements for an elaborate motorcade across town, Kozlov at the last minute set off afoot on the one-mile hike between his country's diplomatic headquarters and the Coliseum where a Soviet cultural and scientific exhibition is being held.

A dozen aides accompanied him while surprised police brass hustled along as escort. The chauffeurs of waiting limousines just scratched their heads. Motorcycle police circled a few city blocks along the route, then gave up.

The group strolled without incident from Park avenue and 68th street, where the Soviet United Nations delegation resides, and through Central Park to the exhibit hall at 60th street and Broadway.

Kozlov arrived from Russia yesterday to preside at the opening tonight.

President Eisenhower planned to fly here today to get a preview of the display, and presumably will meet Kozlov briefly. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is taking part in the formal ceremonies.

The show opens to the public tomorrow.

The affable, gray-haired Kozlov—called the No. 3 man in the Kremlin—will go to Washington tomorrow to talk with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Kozlov arrived in the world's biggest airliner, a Soviet turbojet TU 114, which set a record for flying time between New York and Moscow.

It was the first nonstop flight between the two cities. The flying time was 11 hours and 6 minutes for the 5,092-mile trip. That's an average speed of 460 miles an hour.

Marin Girl, 16, Suspected Of Drug Violation

A 16-year-old San Anselmo girl, discovered at 2:30 this morning in Sausalito's Marinship area, was taken into custody by Sausalito Police Sergeant David Cooper and Officer Peter Lampros for violating the city's curfew ordinance and possible possession of marijuana.

Police Chief Howard Goerndt said the girl had been seen in the area previously, and when she was found wandering among the buildings she was taken into custody where a search of her purse disclosed what appeared to be marijuana seeds.

She was booked and taken to the county juvenile hall.

It'll Be Warm, Dry For Five More Days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Warm, dry weather persisted in California's northern and central counties today. Temperatures will run higher in the interior tomorrow, the forecaster said.

The five-day forecast through next Saturday said no rain is in sight.

Forecaster W. J. Denney noted that barometric pressure has risen over Oregon and Northern Nevada in the past 24 hours, producing strong northerly winds in the Sacramento Valley. This blocks off the sea breeze along the coast.

"The usual air conditioning in the Bay Area will be almost stopped," Denney said.

Burglar Opens Safe With Key

Whoever took $620 from the floor safe of San Anselmo's Wilshire service station at 700 Sir Francis Drake boulevard got into the safe the easy way: He used a key.

Manager Joseph Manini discovered the burglary when he unlocked the safe at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

There were no signs that the safe had been forced. The key to the safe was hanging in its usual place in the service station office and Manini told police that the burglar must have used it.

Manini said the locked safe contained $620 in three money bags when the station closed at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Entry was made through a broken window on the north side of the service station office, reported Asst. Police Chief Sam N. Serio and Officer William Dooley.

Trio Jailed As Deputy Halts Drinking Party

A drinking party of six teen-agers and two young cousins named Ertman at the secluded open pit quarry of McNear's brickyard east of San Rafael was broken up at 1:40 a.m. yesterday by Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou.

Donald Wilbur Ertman, 25-year-old insurance salesman of 45 Woodland avenue, San Rafael, will appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow to answer charges of carrying a concealed weapon, contributing to the delinquency of minors and encouraging juveniles to violate the county curfew.

LOADED REVOLVER

A .22 caliber revolver fully loaded with nine bullets was found at daylight by Deputy Charles Riester about 10 feet from where the party had parked its cars.

Ertman admitted he threw the gun and holster away when he saw a deputy sheriff's car drive up, said Inspector Guido Battaglia.

Ertman said he and his cousin, Fred Curtis Ertman, 23, of Salinas, were invited to join the group of teen-agers when they were in Zip's Drive-in in San Rafael.

WEAPONS READY

When they turned onto the dirt road leading to the quarry, the two cousins decided maybe they were getting into a bad situation and Donald took the gun from his glove compartment and Fred armed himself with a black jack, Battaglia reported. The blackjack also was found by officers lying on the ground.

Fred Ertman will appear in court with his cousin to answer charges of possession of a deadly weapon, contributing to the delinquency of minors and encouraging juveniles to violate the county curfew.

Donald Ertman is free on $1,000 bail. His cousin is out on $750 bail.

One of the teen-agers, Frank Edward Molles, 19, of McNear's Brickyard, was jailed on charges of possession of alcoholic beverages and encouraging juvenuies to violate the county curfew. He was released on $300 bail and was scheduled to appear in municipal court at 1:30 p.m. today.

The others, one boy and four girls, were cited to appear at the county probation department at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Joan Marie Thornton, 18, of 219 Ridgeway avenue, Fairfax, was cited for encouraging juveniles to violate the curfew.

CURFEW CHARGE

A 16-year-old Belvedere girl who goes to Redwood High School, a 16-year-old Mill Valley girl who attends Tamalpais High School, and a 17-year-old San Rafael girl were cited for curfew violation.

A 17-year-old San Rafael boy who is a student at San Rafael High School was cited for curfew violation and possession of alcoholic beverages.

Deputies collected from the group three quart bottles of Vodka, two bottles of bourbon, and various kinds of beer, stout and malt.

Sign Said 'Off Limits' — — 4 Teen-Agers Learn Why

Four San Francisco boys learned the hard way exactly what a sign means when it says: "Danger—Off Limits."

On Saturday they bicycled across the Golden Gate Bridge to Ft. Baker, through a gate where the "off limits" warning was posted and started scrambling about cliff tops.

Three of them were down some 75 feet when they got scared. They called for help. Robert Kvale, 14, was on top because he had expected something such as this.

He found an off-duty Marin County deputy sheriff, Ed Mauberret, who, by stopping motorists, alerted soldiers of the Army Air Defense Command.

The soldiers gathered ropes and tossed them over the cliff-side, and one by one retrieved Thomas Chatham, 13; Thomas Gill, 14, and Michael Geary, 15.

Military police arrived. They put the boys and the bikes into trucks, pointing out the "off limits" sign, and then drove to the Presidio in San Francisco where parents were telephoned.

Each parent dutifully signed a citation for trespassing against his son, thereby agreeing to appear Thursday before U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh.

Judge Praises Quality Of Livestock Entries

The well-groomed animals proudly exhibited by Marin 4-H and Future Farmer members at the West Marin Junior Livestock Show at Point Reyes Station this past weekend can be expected to more than hold their own in upcoming statewide competition.

So George Bath of Santa Rosa, Sonoma County farm adviser, predicted Saturday after he and the other judges had completed selecting this year's prizewinners.

Bath was particularly high in his praise of the quality of this year's Holstein entries where Martin Baccaglio of the Novato Aggies exhibited the champion 4-H animal and Steve Truttman of Pt. Reyes-Olema the top FFA entry.

Other livestock winners:

2,500 Munch Chicken At Pt. Reyes Show

Nearly 2,500 hungry people consumed more than 1,200 tasty barbecued chickens during the West Marin Lions Club-sponsored West Marin Junior Livestock Show at Point Reyes Station Saturday and yesterday.

"We prepared 1,250 chickens, the most we had ever fixed, and we had very few left over last night," Tony Taveggia, chairman for the barbecue, reported this morning.

He said the 2,500 figure represents the most people the Lions had ever fed at their barbecue, a traditional part of the livestock show program.

Served along with the chicken werme some 120 gallons of beans, plus uncounted quantities of slaw, cottage cheese, coffee, milk, and chocolate milk.

Egypt Approves Aswan Dam Plans

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptian authorities have approved final plans proposed by Soviet experts for the Aswan Dam on the Nile, Egyptian newspapers said today.

Changes proposed by the Soviets will reduce the cost of the first stage of the project nearly 17 million dollars, it was said. Approval of the plans could mean construction might start next winter.

The Soviet Union has agreed to lend 400 million rubles—100 million dollars at the official rate of exchange—for the first stage of the power and irrigation project.

Car Backing Down Waldo Injures Two

A car backing down the fast lane of Waldo grade on Highway 101 caused the injury of two San Francisco women late last night. The accident occurred 1.1 miles north of the Spencer avenue overcross about 11:30 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

Backing down the highway was the auto driven by Henry Sprenger, 21, of South San Francisco. The car had run out of oil and he was unable to make the grade. He told the highway patrol officer that someone had given him a push to the top of the hill, but he could not make his car go further.

The second auto, driven by Frank Ernes Fernandez, was southbound when it rounded a curve and struck the rear of the Sprenger car. Sprenger was cited for improper backing.

Taken to Marin General Hospital by Marin Ambulance were Mrs. Aura Rybensky, 48, of 154 Tenth street, an apartment house manager, and Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, 72, of 433 Dolores street. Mrs. Rybensky, who suffered injuries to her right arm and right knee, was transefrred to St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco. Mrs. Walsh, who suffered shock and possible fractured ribs, is in fair condition at Marin General.

Dismissal Of Suit Against Kayo Asked

An attorney for Terence (Kayo) Hallinan today moved for dismissal of the felonious assault charge on which Hallinan was to enter a plea in Marin Superior Court.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori continued the Hallinan case to next Monday for hearing on the motion to dismiss the charge. The motion was made by San Francisco attorney Edward L. Cragen, making his first appearance as Hallinan's counsel.

The complaint against Hallinan, 22-year-old son of former presidential candidate Vincent Hallinan of Ross, was lodged in an indictment by the Marin County Grand Jury, and grew out of an allegedly unprovoked attack on James L. Thalhamer, 18, of Fairfax, at the Greenbrae Lanes bowling alley last May 29.

Thalhamer and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Thalhamer of 26 Maple avenue, Fairfax, have sued young Hallinan for $220,000 in a civil action as a result of the alleged attack.

'NOTHING EVER HAPPENS'

Woman Finds Murder Clues Buried In Desert

ACTON, Calif. (AP)—The wife of a retired gardener saw a man stop his car near her ranch home on this lonely stretch of desert "where nothing ever happens."

"I went into the house and got my binoculars," Martha Schulze said yesterday. "I saw him bury something, but I didn't know what it was."

"Let's go up and see what he buried," Mrs. Schulze told her husband, Charles, 76.

"No," he said, "let's go shopping first. What's buried there will keep.

When they returned from a shopping trip to nearby Palmdale, Mrs. Schulze and a neighbor walked to the spot and dug up a woman's purse and shoes. Then Mrs. Schulze called police.

The purse belonged to Ina Huebner Mosher, 38, who five months ago married Gerald Mosher, an oil field worker.

Police found Mosher, 43, asleep in a hotel room in San Fernando, a suburb of Los Angeles. Officers said Mosher told them, between sobs, that he had strangled his wife Saturday in a fit of jealousy.

Mosher told police he loaded his wife's body in his car and drove aimlessly for several hours. Then he stopped near Mrs. Schulez's home and burined the purse and shoes.

"I didn't know what I was doing," Mosher told police. Then, they said, he led them to his wife's body, dumped from the car along a private road near San Fernando.

High Court Strikes Down Ban On Film

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today struck down the New York State movie censorship law as unconstitutional.

The ruling set aside a ban on the film "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

All nine justices agreed in holding that the ban was improper.

However, four justices said the court moved too swiftly in striking down the New York law. They were Justices Harlan, Whittaker, Clark and Frankfurter.

Justice Stewart delivered the court's main opinion.

Speaking of the New York law, Stewart said what New York has done is to prevent the exhibition of a motion picture because that picture "advocates an idea—that adultery under certain circumstances may be proper behavior. Yet the First Amendment's basic guarantee is of freedom to advocate ideas. The state, quite simply, has thus struck at the very heart of constitutionally protected liberties."

School Board In Larkspur Eyes Budget

A tentative 1959-60 budget of $661,237 for Larkspur School District was approved Friday night by district trustees.

The total is $60,741 more than the current budget. It includes an undistributed reserve of $50,000 and general reserve of $5,000.

Supt. Carl Tivel said the tax rate would remain $1.35.

The budget provides an average raise of $300 for teachers in accordance with a salary schedule approved last year. Raises for administrative and non-teaching personnel also are provided.

Tivel said the budget is subject to further revision after more detailed revenue estimates have been received. A public hearing on the budget will be held early in August after it has been reviewed by the county superintendent of schools.

LETTERS POUR IN

Marin Boy Undergoes Hip Surgery Today

Twelve-year-old Billy Brady of San Anselmo was wheeled into surgery at Shriner's Hospital in San Francisco this morning for his fourth operation in an effort to correct a congenital hip deformity.

At their home at 19 Belle avenue, San Anselmo, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady were anxiously awaiting word on the outcome of the operation, expected sometime this afternoon, and hopeful that this would be the last such ordeal for their son who has spent much of his life in hospitals.

After this fourth operation Billy will again face a lengthy period of convelescing in a hospital bed.

The long hours and days, however, will be shortened somewhat for the boy by warmhearted Marinites who read in the Independent-Journal last week of his plight and of his desire for mail to help him in his battle against loneliness as well as pain.

"Since the news story appeared, letters and cards have been pouring in," the boy's mother says. "They are now in sterilization at the hospital, but they will be ready for Billy when he is sufficiently recovered from the operation to enjoy reading.

Mrs. Brady said her son was "as pleased a punch" when shown the Independent-Journal clipping with his picture and the story.

Billy will be an eighth grade student at St. Anselm's School in San Anselmo next fall.

Junior Chamber Installs Coolidge

Robert C. Coolidge, Mill Valley sales engineer, Saturday night was installed as president of the Mill Valley junior chamber of commerce in ceremonies held at the home of Randall V. Greig of Kentfield, outgoing president.

Also installed were Earl Gates, first vice president; Al Bianchi, second vice president, and Roger Murphy, treasurer.

George Harrison of Novato, vice president of district one, was installing officer.

The Mill Valley Jaycees meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 8 p.m. in the Mill Valley Record office.

Even efficient housekeepers sometimes forget to clean the spouts of teapots. Keep a package of pipe cleaners handy in a cabinet drawer for this important task. Rinse the teapot, insert a doubled pipe cleaner in the spout and carefully turn to remove tannin stains; you may have to do this once more but this method usually leaves the spout spotlessly clean.

Governor Long Plans Divorce, More Firings

WINNFIELD, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long, refreshed after a weekend at his beloved "Pea Patch Farm," heads across state to Covington today to place himself under a team of psychiatrists.

Long is also extending his political purge, divorcing his wife, planning a special session of the legislature and starting his campaign for re-election.

"I'm going to get a divorce just as fast as I can," he said of his wife, who twice committed him for psychiatric treatment. Mrs. Long has left the state.

BACK TO CAPITAL

Long plans to remain at Covington until Friday night. Then he will go to Baton Rouge for the first time since his commitment to Southeast Louisiana State mental Hospital at Mandeville on June 18.

The 63-year-old governor discussed his plans yesterday in a 15-minutes news conference on the back porch of the frame farm house his estranged wife, Blanche, calls "Earl's shack."

The governor, clad in pajamas and a bathrobe, did most of the talking. Only about two or three questions were asked before the governor's advisors and psychiatrist, Dr. Paul Pratt, decided the conference had lasted long enough.

DIVORCE PLANS

The governor told newsmen he had been considering a divorce from his wife for some time.

"I would have got a divorce a long time ago if I hadn't been in politics," the governor said. "Without causing any scandal and no trouble I'm going to get a divorce just as fast as I can."

He plans a cleanup in the state Welfare Department.

"If what I heard about Mrs. Dickerson (Mary Evelyn Dickerson Parker, director of welfare) is true, she's a bum director."

OUT GOES FRIEND

If he can, he is going to get rid of Theo Cangelosi, chairman of the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors and long-time friend and legal adviser of the governor.

"He doublecrossed me," Long said, "representing both me and my wife."

He did not go into detail on the special legislative session, but definitely said there would be one.

Long predicted he would be elected governor for the fourth time in the Democratic primary next December. He said he would get 60 per cent of the vote as against 51 per cent he got last time.

"If any man in Louisiana is qualified to talk about politics, it's me," Long emphasized.

IT'S 'SAFE BOATING WEEK'—Dr. Alfred Schwarz of Kentfield, commander of the recently organized Marin Power Squadron, hoists the U.S. Power Squadron ensign on his "flagship," the Gerrie II, in observance of Safe Boating Week. Marin Gains Power Boat Squadron

United States Power Squadron, national organization devoted to safe boating education, comes officially to Marin this week with the first meeting Wednesday night at College of Marin of the executive committee of the newly chartered Marin Power Squadron.

The 72 Marin men and women who are charter members have functioned for several years past as a division of the San Francisco squadron. More than 500 boat owners and embryo skippers have taken one or more of the courses in seamanship, piloting and advanced study offered by the squadron.

Coincidentally, this week marks the beginning of Safe Boating Week as proclaimed by President Eisenhower.

"The U. S. Coast Guard reports a 15 per cent increase in pleasure boating accidents in the past 11 months," reports Dr. Alfred J. Schwarz, commander of the Marin Squadron. "The 702 cases of boats in distress and the 40 death in the Bay Area is shocking evidence of the need for education in safe boat handling."

Free classes in safe boat handling will be given beginning September by squadron members.

Officers in addition to Schwarz, are:

Vice commander, Edwin Cadogan; lieutenant commander, William Holloway; treasurer, Richard Pendleton; secretary, Eugene F. Sweeney; executive committee, Robert Evans, Frank Keiderling and Gene Abbett.

Steel Contract Talks Resume On Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel industry contract negotiations are recessed until Wednesday. A strike deadline has been postponed for two weeks, until midnight July 14.

President Eisenhower's intervention Saturday paved the way for the postponement. The strike had been scheduled for tomorrow night, barring a sudden settlement, which nobody expected.

David J. McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers, scheduled meetings today with his 33-man executive board and 171-member international wage policy committee. Both sessions were expected to be routine.

The industry position against granting any labor cost increases still stands. This was made clear in a statement by R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, and by Thomas Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp.

Patton said on a nationwide television broadcast last night that his firm is unwilling to grant any labor cost increases without compensating price increases. Asked about record 1959 profit reports, Patton said the long-range expectation is what must be considered.

McDonald called Cooper's restatement of concern over inflation "a rehash of the same old mishmash." The union is insisting on sizable gains in wages and other worker benefits. Steelworkers now earn an average $3.10 an hour.

SP Repairs Trestle After Fire In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Some 13,000 commuters arrived in San Francisco on schedule today over a hurriedly-repaired train trestle damaged by fire yesterday.

A Southern Pacific spokesman said both tracks over a 700-foot stretch of the Islais Creek trestle were open when the San Jose commuter train —today's first—left early this morning.

A crew of 150 workmen opened one track over the main line into San Francisco at 1:30 a.m. after working feverishly to repair damage caused by a stubborn fire.

Fire broke out yesterday morning among creosoted pilings beneath the bridge over Rankin and Jerrold streets near the U.S. Marine Supply Depot. Eighty firemen brought the blaze under control.

Between 3,000 and 5,500 yards of fill were brought in after smoking pilings were torn out. The trestle, 1,400 feet long, runs over swamp land.

A number of trains were rerouted to Oakland yesterday, including the north-bound Lark from Los Angeles with entertainer Judy Garland aboard.

TEAMWORK HELPS

Two Youths Build Up Car-Wash Business

By DON KEOWN

Two Marin teen-agers have built what started out as a weekend means of raising spending money into a flourishing full-time business.

Complete with business cards, uniforms, and a convincing sales "pitch," Charles Evans Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans Sr. of 15 North Ridgewood, Kent Woodlands, and Edward Margoliash, also 17, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Margoliash of 186 Prospect avenue, Ross, will be working 10 hours a day this summer polishing and waxing cars.

This fall young Evans will depart for Salem, Ore., where he will enroll as a freshman at Willamette College. Margoliash, a Redwood High School senior, will continue operating the business until he is rejoined by his partner next summer.

ORIGINAL IDEA

The two youths credit James W. Kirchanski, operator and instructor at the 3-R School, with originating the idea for their business venture.

"One of us was doing a little special studying in algebra under him, and we noticed that his car, parked out in front of the school, was pretty dusty," they relate. "So we propositioned him on a wash and wax job and made a deal. And we did such a good job that he suggested that we go into the business."

That was six months ago.

The teen-agers estimate that they have now cleaned and waxed more than 50 cars, and their business volume is growing rapidly.

THEY'LL HIRE PALS

"We hope soon to be in a position to provide jobs for some of our friends," they say.

As a full-fledged business concern the boys qualify to purchase their supplies from a wholesaler. "And that means a big saving," they say.

They credit their success to three factors—teamwork, business acuity, and plain industry.

SCOUT EXPERIENCE

The teamwork they can trace back to the years they have spent as fellow members of the same Scout troop. Both are Eagle Scouts and members of Explorer Post No. 17.

"When we first started out working on cars we found that we were getting in each other's way," says Margoliash. "Now we have divided up the work. Since I am taller and have long arms, I do the roofs and sides of the cars. Charlie, since he is shorter, does the hoods and the other parts which can be more easily reached. And we have cut down the amount of time it takes to do an automobile by an hour and a half."

The pair got their initiation into business as grade school boys when both were Independent-Journal carriers. Contacts made then are still paying off, they say.

RING DOORBELLS

The teen-agers don't wait for business to come to them. They go out and hunt for it. And ringing doorbells, they can frequently ask the man or woman who comes to the door: "Remember me? I used to be your Independent-Journal carrier. Now my friend and I are in a different business and we think you might be interested in our services."

That approach along with a description of the high quality job which they perform has resulted in a volume of business which has caused the pair to give up their past practice of working weekends only, and to roll up their sleeves and go to work six days a week.

Ironically, young Margoliash, son of a dentist, plans to become a businessman. And Evans, son of a businessman, will study dentistry at Willamette.

The money they are making will finance much of the educations necessary to prepare them for those careers.

Pope 'Saddened' At Persecutions

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII said today he was "greatly saddened by the continued persecutions against the Roman Catholic Church and its shepherds."

The pontiff made the statement in a brief homily during Mass celebrating the feast day of St. Peter and St. Paul.

"Some countries, beside persecuting the Church, deny freedom to their people, with their rulers even prying into the citizens' minds," he said.

Pope John did not mention the countries by name but he has made similar statements in the past in reference to Communist nations.

Misaligned Spine
Cause of Serious Sickness
by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

All of us probably have been sick at one time or another. But few of us ever ask, "What was the cause of my sickness?"

A book by Dr. H. H. Rubin says a great many symptons of disease may be nothing more serious than a displaced vertebra.

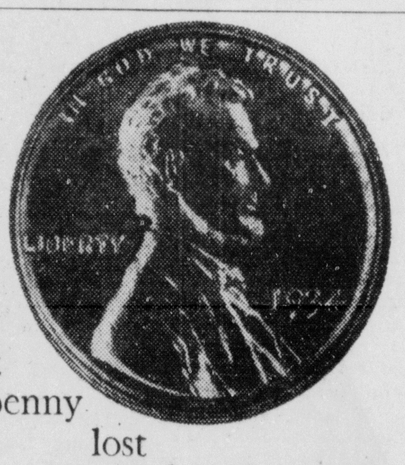

How can this be? How can a bone in the spine cause heart trouble, ulcers, arthritis and many other diseases?

Dr. B. J. Palmer of Davenport, Iowa explains that all nerves flow from the brain through the spine. These nerves spread to all parts of the body through openings betweens the bones or vertebrae of the spine.

Dr. Palmer says the nerves sometimes become pinched from a misaligned vertebra. Pain and sickness result when this happens because our organs cannot work properly without vital nerve impulses.

Some thirty million people visit chiropractors for all types of sickness. Chiropractors are trained to correct spinal defects which pinch nerves.

Ex-Seabee New State Legion Chief

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A 46-year-old former Seabee, C. S. (Steve) Foote of Reseda, is the new state commander of the American Legion.

He defeated Roscoe Morse of San Diego, 2,105 to 1,638, at the closing session of the California department's 41st annual convention yesterday.

Foote, an insurance man, is a member of Van Nuys Post 193. He was state vice commander for Los Angeles County.

Fred Nessler of Long Beach was elected state sergeant-at-arms in a contest with Charles Schleppy of Los Angeles.

The Legion Auxiliary, meeting at Santa Monica, installed Mrs. O'Neill Ganey of Van Nuys as president.

The Legion adopted resolutions urging:

There be no compromise with the Chinese Communists or establishment of diplomatic relations.

Russia be expelled from the United Nations or, failing that, the United States withdraw.

The motion picture industry to strengthen safeguards to prevent infiltration by Communists.

Supervisors' Vacation Ends; Agenda Lengthy

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, returning from a two-week vacation, tomorrow will face one of the longest agendas members have had on their desks in several weeks, and County Clerk George Jones said it is "very likely" the board will wind up regular business Wednesday.

"They probably will meet every day this week," he said. The board starts public hearing on the 1959-60 budget Thursday.

Next Monday members sit as a board of equalization to consider the assessment roll, and this meeting may be continued every week day for two weeks.

The board tomorrow is scheduled to receive Novato Home Rule Committee petitions calling for the incorporation of Novato. The committee claims to have received signatures from 25 per cent of qualified property owners.

In addition to routine business, the board will consider:

A lengthy agenda of planning commission matters.

Plans for a new juvenile hall, hospital and farm.

A report on an ordinance establishing interim zoning restrictions in the Alto area.

Bolinas Beach garbage rates.

Hill Haven road improvement project.

Abandonment of certain county highways in the Tomales area.

Annexation of Palm Hill No. 1 to Larkspur.

A total of 137 communications requesting a vote on the Civic Center project.

Belvedere plan on integration into the Marin County disaster plan.

Various sanitary district annexations.

Car Hits Scooter; Damage Is Minor

San Rafael School Supt. Frank L. Lucas was involved in a minor car-scooter mishap on San Rafael's C street Friday, but no one was hurt.

Police Officer Carl Selby said Douglas B. Oliver, about 16, of 178 Humboldt street, San Rafael, had parked his scooter illegally between Lucas' car and another car. When Lucas tried to back up, his car dented the rear fender of the scooter. Lucas' sedan was undamaged.

Novato Man Seriously Hurt In 101 Crash

George Edward Thorman, 48-year-old Novato diamond setter, remained in serious condition today at San Rafael General Hospital with a crushed chest after a Saturday afternoon automobile accident when his car rammed into a pole in the Highway 101 center divider just north of Black Point cutoff.

Thorman's car was southbound at an estimated speed of 80 miles an hour when it came up behind cars stopped for a traffic light, according to the California Highway Patrol. He swerved left into the divider and struck the pole. His 1959 Plymouth sedan was a total wreck, reported CHP Officer Robert Greer.

Thorman, who has his business in San Francisco, lives at 1117 Fourth street, Novato.

Youth Learns Penalties For Fleeing Police

James Carl Blankenship, 18, of San Rafael, who led police on a 100-mile-per-hour chase from San Rafael northward last Saturday, must pay a $50 fine and not drive for six months.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court put the youth on probation until Dec. 2, 1961, on condition he pay the fine.

Blankenship, who lives at 35 Bayview street, was convicted of speeding, reckless driving and evading arrest. Police chased him through two stop signs in San Rafael, then north on Highway 101 with deputy sheriffs joining the chase. The youth was forced to stop at a Hamilton Air Force Base barricade.

A nursery camp for 3 and 4-year-olds stays at the center where it has access to facilities of a year-round nursery school.

A fee is charged for each three-week camp session. Information may be obtained from the Marin Jewish Community Center, Mission and Forbes avenues, San Rafael.

Retiring Educator Gets Photograph From Ike

A busy executive took time out from important duties recently to pay tribute to a Marin County school principal and teacher who will retire this month after 46 years of service.

He had a smiling picture of himself inscribed as follows:

"For Miss Valerie Ansel, with felicitations on a long career dedicated to the young people of Marin County, and best wishes."

Under the inscription he signed his name, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

To Miss Ansel, retiring June 30 as principal of San Anselmo's Wade Thomas School, it was "a very great honor, because I admire our President extremely."

RARE HONOR

The photograph was presented to her last week by Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools. He termed the President's act "an honor seldom bestowed on a teacher."

Miss Ansel's long service was called to Eisenhower's attention by an old family friend, former Sen. William F. Knowland.

"He grew up in my home town of Alameda," she said. "He is a good friend of my brother, John, and we have known his father, Joseph Knowland, for years."

Miss Ansel taught one year in Tomales Elementary School before moving in 1914 to San Anselmo, where she resides at 245A Crescent road.

45-YEAR CAREER

A graduate of the old San Francisco Normal School, she has served 35 of her 45 years at Wade Thomas School as teacher-principal. For the last four years she has been supervising principal. She also serves as chairman of the San Anselmo Public Library Board.

Miss Ansel said the inscribed photograph of the President already is one of her most cherished possessions.

"I feel," she said, "that Dwight Eisenhower is a very fine example to the youth—and everyone—in this land because of his own fine living."

BURNING WRECKAGE—Trestle and train burn following a sudden explosion of two train tank cars whch were crossing trestle near Meldrim, Ga. At least 17 persons in the area died. The trestle crosses Ogeechee River. (AP Wirephoto)

Railroad Tank Cars Explode; Picnickers Die

MELDRIM, Ga. (UPI)—Officials feared a rapidly-mounting death toll today in the explosion of two gas-filled railroad cars that turned a happy picnic area into a seething caldron of fire.

At least 17 persons were known dead, many of them children who had been frolicking in the water near the railroad trestle. More than 25 were injured and the Ogeechee River was being searched by skindivers for additional bodies.

There were reports that as many as 50 or 60 persons were unaccounted for, but confusion at the scene made it difficult to determine for sure. A rescue worker estimated that 100 persons were in the area during the explosion. Of those not definitely counted among the dead or injured it was not known how many fled, he said.

A carefree summer's day turned into a hell-on-earth when 14 cars of a mile-long freight train plunged from a wooden trestle into the crowd of swimmers and picnickers. Two cars filled with butane, an inflammable gas, exploded—apparently touched off by the gaily-winking campfires of the victims-to-be.

An overheated "journal box," which contains wheel bearings, was blamed by some officials for the train's derailment, but others said the cause would not be known for some time.

But Harvey's fishing camp, located two mlies west of this small town 18 miles from Savannah, has become a name of horror. It is a place where small children screamed and died as a searing sheet of flame turned the quiet waters of the Ogeechee into a flaming river of death and blasted almost five acres of land.

Actress Terry Moore Weds Businessman In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Terry Moore and her third husband, wealthy socialite businessman Stuart Cramer III, began a honeymoon today aboard his yacht off the California coast.

They were married last night at the Church of the Hills in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. About 100 friends of both families attended the ceremony.

Bishop John Bernhardt of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints officiated.

Miss Moore is 29 and Cramer 34.

Following a reception at the home of her parents, the couple left for Cramer's 55-foot yacht, Kirawan. They plan to live in Beverly Hills.

Miss Moore was previously married to West Point football star Glenn Davis and Panamanian businessman Eugene McGrath. Cramer was married briefly to actress Jean Peters.

The surprise ceremony caught most of the Hollywood colony off guard. No film notables were present.

Firecrackers Light Big Grass Blaze

The Fourth of July came one week early to Santa Venetia with fiery results: Ten acres of grass went up in flames on the site of the future county civic center.

A 12-year-old boy playing with firecrackers started the fire, reported the County Fire Department.

No houses were endangered but a stiff breeze was fanning the flames. The fire was under control at 1:10 p.m., half an hour after the alarm was given. The last of five trucks under Asst. Chief Louis Bloom returned to its station at 3:53 p.m. after the grass fire was extinguished.

Demos Joyful At Turnout In Hawaiian Vote

HONOLULU (AP)—Democrats jubilantly claimed today their heavy vote in Hawaii's primary means victory for them in the islands' first state elections next month.

They contended that the big Democratic vote was the forerunner of a sweep that would send three of their fold to Congress and elect a Democratic governor and Legislature.

GOP REPLY

Republicans were quick to answer that GOP candidates ran unopposed in the nominating primary Saturday while Democrats engaged in vote-drawing contests. They said the Democratic outpouring was expected.

Some GOP leaders nevertheless conceded that the party would be the underdog in the Aloha State's first election July 28.

Both parties turned to campaigning in the wake of the primary and a simultaneous statehood plebiscite in which Hawaiians voted approval of statehood by a whopping 17 to 1 margin.

The 132,938 yes votes so dwarfed the 7,854 votes against statehood that it exceeded even the most optimistic predictions.

CONGRESS VOTE

The primary voting produced three candidates of Japanese or Chinese ancestry out of the six nominated for Hawaii's two Senate seats and one in the House of Representatives. At least one of the trio appears certain to go to Congress.

Democrats nominated Frank F. Fasi, 38, and former Hawaii governor Oren E. Long, 70, for the Senate.

Fasi, a territorial senator, scored a major upset by beating Chinese-American William H. Heen, 76, who had served 32 years in the territorial Senate and had come out of retirement to seek the nomination.

RUNS UNOPPOSED

Hiram L. Fong, 52, a wealthy businessman of Chinese descent, ran unopposed and drew 42,396 votes. He will oppose Fasi for one Senate seat.

Long registered 61,625 votes to overwhelm two Democratic aspirants in the nominating contest. His Republican opponent for the other Senate seat will be Japanese-American Wilfred C. Tsukiyama, 62, veteran territorial senator who garnered 40,700 votes running unopposed in the primary.

East Coast Swelters As Mercury Tops 100

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Easterners sweltered today in an early summer heat wave that sent the mercury sizzling to record heights along the middle Atlantic coast.

A mass of cool Canadian air brought relief from prolonged heat in the northern Midwest, and vacationers found heavy snows on the high passes in the Colorado Rockies.

The cool air was spearing southward across the nation's midsection, but offered no immediate relief in the East where the mercury yesterday soared to 101 at Charlotte, N.C., 100 at Richmond, Va., and Baltimore, Md., and 99 at Washington, D.C.

The 99-degree reading gave the nation's capital its hottest June 28 since the Weather Bureau started keeping records 87 years ago. It was Washington's highest temperature this year and only two degrees below the all-time record.

Drivers of air-conditioned buses reported passengers paid as many as eight fares to ride back and forth in comfort. Some families checked into air-conditioned motels for the weekend.

Wild Reception For Queen As Yacht Arrives In Toronto

TORONTO (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II received the biggest, noisiest reception of her Canadian tour on her arrival in Toronto today.

More than 6,000 people overflowed a temporary grandstand erected on the pier where the royal yacht Britannia tied up. Several thousand others were standing around a huge enclosure.

In the harbor, hundreds of boats, large and small, were lined up. Flags and streamers fluttered from masts and rigging.

After a reception on a red carpet on the dock, the Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, set out on a tightly knit program that will not end until 10 p.m.

Tomorrow the Queen breaks the routine of formal ceremonies for two of her favorite diversions, horse racing and the theater.

Canadia's top racing event, the Queen's Plate, will be run here with the Queen and Philip watching.

At nearby Stratford, the Shakespearean Festival group gives a command performance of "As You Like It" for the royal couple.

Ben-Gurion May Quit Over Israeli Arms Deal

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—A bitter controversy over the sale of Israeli arms to West Germany threatened to force the resignation of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion today.

Sources close to the 74-year-old premier, who has guided this infant nation since its birth, said he was determined to quit the government and politics unless the coalition government backed the arms deal.

The critical decision was expected to come at a cabinet meeting and subsequent session of parliament this afternoon.

Ultimately it could affect Israel's position as a staunch supporter of NATO.

The crisis arose when a West German magazine disclosed that Israel was selling 250,000 grenade throwers to the West German army.

Ministers of the Leftist Adhut Avoda and Mapam Parties objected. Ben-Gurion's Mapai Party has a majority in the cabinet but not in the Knesset (parliament).

A stormy five-hour session of the cabinet yesterday failed to resolve the issue and a 24-hour adjournement was called to enable the Adhut and Mapam ministers to confer with their party leaders.

The crucial voting was expected to come in parliament on a Communist motion of no confidence and an opposition Herut Party motion to cancel the arms agreement.

Ben-Gurian made it clear at yesterday's cabinet meeting he would resign if the Ahdut party did not support him in both motions.

Ben-Gurion views the arms deal as important for Israel's defense program and economy.

Reds Protest West Voting Set In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—West Germany pushed ahead today with plans for a presidential election in isolated Berlin despite Soviet warnings such a move will be viewed as a provocative act.

Officials remained alert as Communist East German officials said they would look at the election 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain with "great seriousness." But there was no expectation of any real trouble then the Electoral College meets Wednesday.

NEW MEDDLING

The U.S. State Department brushed aside Soviet notes to the Western Big Three protesting the holding of the election in West Berlin. Officials in Washington termed the notes a new effort to meddle in Germany's internal affairs.

The Soviet note to the United States said the Soviet Union considered holding the elections in Berlin "a new attempt to use the current abnormal situation in the city in order to inflame even more the situation in Germany."

TRADITIONAL VOTE

State Department press officer Lincoln White said the decision to hold the election in Berlin "merely represents a continuation of a tradition begun with the presidential election in Berlin in July, 1954." That election was held in Berlin without Red protest.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko declared in Moscow that holding the election in Berlin was another example of an effort to create tension.

The Soviet Union and East Germany insist West Berlin is a part of East Germany. The State Department holds that the Red-girdled city is "held in trust by the principal Allied powers as the capital of a reunited Germany."

Trail Of Airmen Lost In Desert In 1943 Found

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Discovery of a marker trail pointing north over the Libyan Desert has spurred the search for the remains of nine crewmen of a U.S. bomber which crashed in World War II.

The trail was found by a U.S. Army mortuary team which has searched across some 200 square miles of sand in the past three weeks. The team's next objective was the remains of about 10 persons several miles beyond the end of the trail.

PLANE FOUND

The search was launched after a team of British geologists found the almost undamaged B24 Liberator on hard-packed sand. The bomber, identified as the "Lady Be Good" from Bengasi, apparently had made an unmanned belly landing on its return from a bombing raid against Naples, Italy, April 3, 1943.

The logbook recounting the flight, flight gear, fatigue clothing and full water jugs were in their original places inside the plane. It was believed the plane was damaged in the raid and the crew parachuted into the desert, then perished in an attempt to walk to civilization.

MARKERS FOUND

The mortuary team found the marker trail about 20 miles north of the plane. It ran another 24 miles northward, ending at a crossing of old desert tracks.

The trail was made of boots, parachutes and other flight equipment weighted down with small stones and pointing carefully north.

The tracks at the crossing were made by five Italian vehicles which tried to cross the desert during the war. Three were abandoned and two made it to the coast.

REMAINS FOUND

Reports from Bengasi said the remains of about 10 persons lie near the abandoned vehicles. It had been assumed they were Italian soldiers, but the mortuary crew said they could be the American bomber crewmen.

It is possible, the team theorizes, that the missing airmen could have followed the route of the Italian cars until they reached the abandoned vehicles where last hope faded.

McElroy spoke at a news conference Saturday during the defense secretaries conference, an annual meeting of the nation's top military and civilian Defense Department officials. The conference ended yesterday with a meeting of military commanders.

McElroy said test firings of the Atlas have been halted by the Air Force "while some corrective work is being done."

News Strike Ends

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 10-day strike against the Kansas City Star and the Kansas City Kansan ended yesterday when striking printers accepted two-year contracts.

The Star resumed publication today with an 18-page edition of its morning Times. The newspaper, which contained no paid advertising, summarized news events since the paper was shut down June 18 and brought readers up to date on comic strips.

Members of local 80 of the international typographical union voted 285-94 to accept the contract, which replaces agreements that expired last Sept. 30.

Key issue in the strike was a union demand for higher holiday pay. The printers had sought 7½ hours of double time pay for 5 hours work on six recognized holidays. Under the new contract, they will work a 5-hour holiday at double time. Printers whose normal days off fall on any of the holidays, and who do not work, will receive 5 hours pay at straight time.

SISTERS IN QUEEN CONTEST

Regina Wallace, 18, of Gilroy, left, squeals in surprise upon hearing herself named queen of the 20th annual Redwood City Rodeo and Fourth of July Celebration in Redwood City Saturday night. Runner-up among the two dozen entries was sister, Pat, 17, right, who smiles delightedly at Regina's reaction. The latter will share honors with Jock Mahoney, television's "Yancy Derringer" during the three-day event. (AP Wirephoto)

Guild Strikes Two Nevada Newspapers

RENO (AP) — Northern Nevada's only major newspapers, the Reno Evening Gazette and the Nevada State Journal, were struck by the American Newspaper Guild today.

Publisher Charles H. Stout said the newspapers expect to continue publication. However, members of the typographical union, composed of the men who set the type and make up the advertisements, also stayed off the job because of the guild picket lines posted in every entrance.

The guild has about 30 members in the editorial staff of the Gazette and in the combined advertising department of the two papers. Reporters on the Journal, a morning newspaper which does not publish on Mondays are not guild members.

Mrs. Katharine Mergen, president of Local 208 of the Guild and society editor of the Gazette, said the strike was over job security and wages.

Stout said the deadlock developed because of management's refusal to accede to a guild demand for an agency shop, a provision which would require nonunion members to pay the same dues as are paid by members.

Fairfax Girl Hurt In Crash

Carrie Priscilla Overly, 17, of 181 Bolinas road, Fairfax, suffered back injuries in a two-car accident at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at the San Rafael interchange of Highway 101 and Francisco boulevard.

The extent of her injuries had not been determined today. She was admitted to San Rafael General Hospital for observation.

Miss Overly, daughter of Mrs. Ella Overly of Fairfax, was a passenger in a car driven by Leonard Stuart Fabian of 162 Alpine street, San Rafael.

The driver of the other car was Bill Nichols Ellis of San Jose.

Details of the accident were not available as the San Rafael Police Department report of the mishap had not been completed.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Both Sea And Seafarers Deserve Respect, Courtesy

From the safe vantage point of the mystified seagull in today's editorial cartoon, the possible murder and mayhem caused by the careless mariners is astounding.

But when we realize that today 30 million Americans are on the nation's waterways, thousands of them on Marin and San Francisco Bay waters, these breaches of nautical etiquette are not greatly magnified.

Pleasure boating is one sport where, for unknown reasons some owners infer that by buying a boat they have become sailors.

Next purchase is usually a gold-braided yaching cap and a speedometer. Smug in his own knowledge, he loads the boat with family and friends, and shoves off into the unknown with less thought than taking the family car to the gas station.

Today's cartoon shows some of the more common errors in judgment as practised by the neophyte skipper. Possibly there may be some slight exaggeration due to the limits of space, but most of these situations are visible in Marin waters on any given Sunday afternoon.

The fisherman with his careless wake is not only endangering lives but laying himself open to a law suit from the poor man hitting the drink. The U.S. Coast Guard takes a dim view of making fast to a buoy, as it obstructs the view of this navigational aid and may move it off course.

While sailboats have the right of way, it is often the better part of valor to yield to a battleship. Dead right won't help the skipper.

Sun bathing on a raft can be peaceful, rocking on the gentle swells—until some hot rod showing off for his gal dashes by and spills you into briny.

We all know gas makes the boat go. A boat may go in three directions forward, reverse, and up. Smoking and cooking while refueling often causes the boat to assume the latter direction and it, together with the crew, go up to trade sextants for harps.

The one semi-sane mariner at the dock is meticulously planning a cruise on his charts. His only mistake is having them exposed to the vagaries of the breeze.

His friendly neighbor will come about fast when the slack on his still-fast stern line is taken up, or he fouls his propellor with the trailing line.

Grace in entering a boat is aptly demonstrated by our cousin to a kangaroo. It's nothing that a new bottom for both the boat and himself won't fix.

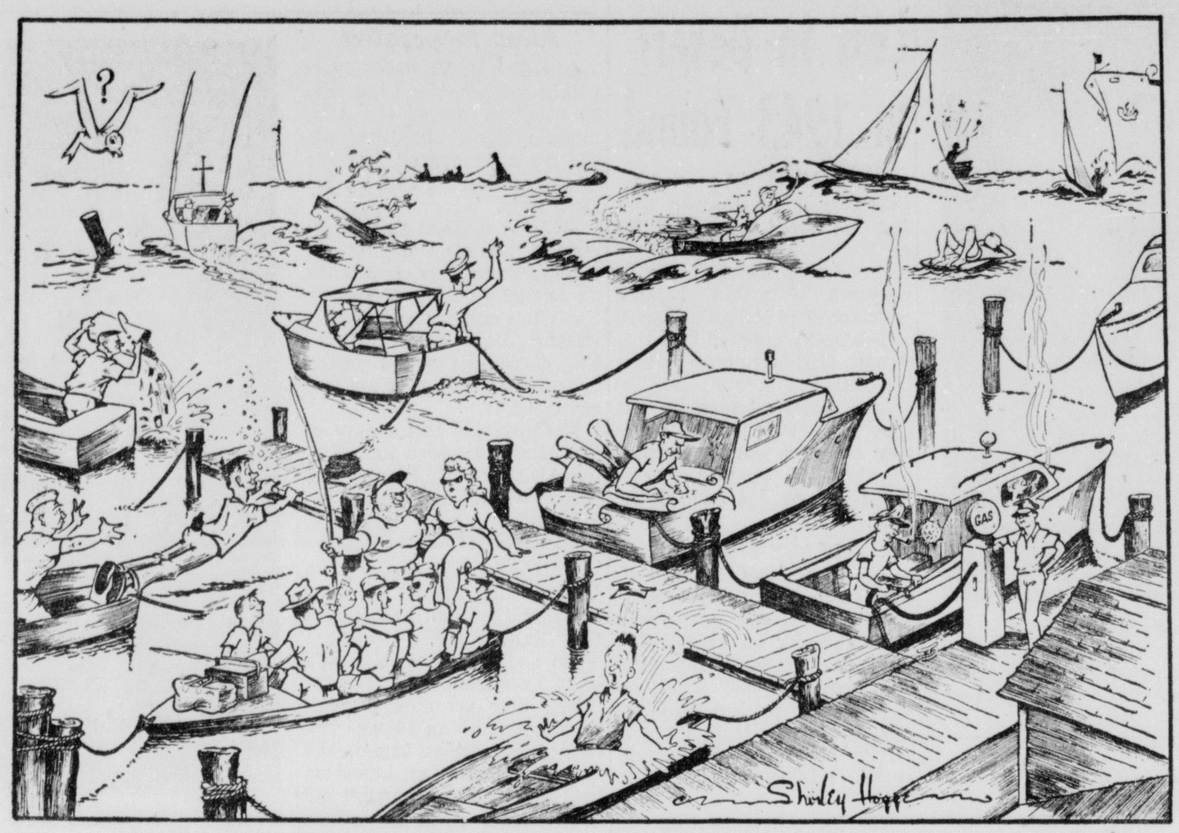

A prime sign of a new skipper is his friendliness. Rather than hurt some one's feelings, he will always take another guest. Freeboard to him is some one else brings the chow. He may get away from the dock to swamp in the channel.

Alcohol may mix with water, but shouldn't on a boat. Our bubbly friend may get his chaser faster than he anticipates. Let's hope he dunks here instead of out in the middle.

Cleanliness is next to Godliness, but dumping your refuse overboard at a dock is like throwing your garbage out the front door at home.

We have nothing but praise for the hundreds of fine skippers who operate here year after year with courtesy and safety. But this week in particular, National Safe Boating Week, we hope the newcomers to our waters will learn the rules, stick to them, and respect both the sea and his seafaring neighbors.

Door Still Open For Purveyors Of Pornography

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Apparently the doors remain fairly wide open for the purveyors of pornographic writing and pictures, and crime comic books, as the result of a series of events over the past few weeks.

First, the state Legislature took no action at all on the suggestions of Assemblyman Lou Francis, (R-San Mateo), who headed an Assembly interim committee.

THIS COMMITTEE studied the subject for some time, held lengthy hearings throughout the state, and picked up a pile of testimony and evidence to the effect that some controls were needed.

However, all the legislation went down the drain when Francis presented it to the Legislature.

THE OTHER EVENT was the opinion of the State Supreme Court to the effect that a Los Angeles County ordinance prohibiting the sale of crime comic books to children under the age of 18 years, was not constitutional.

The court held the ordinance was "an unjustifiable abridgement of freedom of the press, because distribution of such crime comic books is protected by the state and federal constitutions. It held further that no showing had been made in the case of a clear and present danger of substantive evil justifying supression of the constitutional guarantees.

FURTHER, THE court said, the record in the case failed to show "that there is a clear and present danger of circulation of crime comic books in general, injuring the character of persons under the age of 18 and inculcating in them a preference for crime."

The question of control of comic books and pornographic issuances is, at best, a delicate one.

DEFINITELY, THERE is more than a possibility of treading on the toes of the constitutional guarantees in both the state and federal constitutions, guaranteeing the freedom of the press. This has been ever-present in the minds of representatives of publishing when the matter has come before the state Legislature.

Consequently, the question of where to draw the line, if a line is to be drawn at all, never has been answered. Persons supporting legislation to control some of the issuances undoubtedly are sincere and are working in what they believe are the best interests of society when they attempt to impose restrictions.

ON THE OTHER hand, persons who oppose restrictions, are equally sincere in their contentions that such restrictions will eventually spread until the constitutional guarantees to the people of the country are negated.

The only answer, apparently, is in the good judgment of those who publish and sell comic books and shady writings, which in the farthest stretch of the imagination cannot be called literature.

THE ANSWER ALSO lies, and primarily so, in the discretion of parents and their direction of the off-spring in comic books, and other reading materials. It also lies within the province of the schools to help create desire for solid materials.

Once the public quits patronizing the news-stands for the objectional material, it is bound to disappear.

Democratic Advisory Council's Paper On Defense Deserve Study, Answer

The Democratic Advisory Council has issued a long pamphlet dealing with the national defense. The worst thing that can be said about it is that it is sponsored by a political party, or rather by a faction of a political party, and that it will, therefore, be heavily discounted.

This is a pity. Disregarding a few unnecessary and extraneous partisan phrases, the pamphlet deserves a careful reading.

There is a large literature already existing which is critical of our defense policy. Having read a good deal of it, I would venture to say that this pamphlet is much the best in its field, evidently quite expertly informed, reasonable and civilian in its temper, and lucidly written.

IT OUGHT NOT to be brushed aside as a partisan document. For, in fact, the argument it makes has the support of large numbers of Republicans, especially of those who have paid close attention to the problem of defense, and of many of the military men who by common consent are leaders in military thought.

Moreover, the pamphlet is not a Democratic Party document since there is no reason to think that the present Democratic leadership in Congress agrees with it.

The two main points of the pamphlet are familiar enough.

THE FIRST ONE deals with the "missile gap" which, on the admission of Secretary McElroy, is likely to bring it about that in the next three years the USSR will have in intercontinental ballistic missiles a supremacy of three to one.

This could mean that during these years the USSR would be theoretically capable of knocking out the bulk of our Strategic Air Force.

The pamphlet does not say that the USSR would, or is likely to, try for such a Pearl Harbor. But it is right in saying that the existence of this theoretical power would have an important effect on the political relations between the West and the Communist powers.

THE OTHER POINT, which is also familiar, is that defense cannot be allowed to depend solely on nuclear weapons — the big ones which are suicidal or the small ones which would be devastating to our allies and to the uncommitted countries.

The pamphlet contains a carefully reasoned and persuasive argument why expenditures should be increased to close the missile gap and to increase our conventional forces.

What interested me most in the pamphlet, given the fact that it was written under the auspices of Dean Acheson, was the illuminating candor with which it explains how things have changed since the Truman administration.

THE CRITICAL change is this: our original strategy in NATO was based on our possession at the time of a monopoly of nuclear weapons. Under those conditions, a small ground force backed by the irresistible power of the Strategic Air Force was quite sufficient to hold in check the enormously superior masses of the Red Army.

Our monopoly was broken by the Soviets in 1949 and this has brought with it, as the USSR developed its bombs and its missiles, a radical change in the balance of power.

WE ARE FAR from being defenseless against this new might of the Soviet Union. But there is no doubt that our allies in Western Europe and our client states in Asia are far more vulnerable than they were 10 years ago.

This could have serious political consequences, if "the missile gap" is allowed to become so wide this country, which is the ultimate protector of the non-Communist world, becomes itself highly vulnerable.

No matter what it costs, this must not be allowed to happen.

Sausalito's Banana Belt Named For Bananas, But Where Is It?

County Clerk George Jones is credited with the intelligence that Sausalito's residential area long known as "The Banana Belt" took its name from the bananas and other tropical items which George's father grew there many years ago.

The only trouble is that every Sausalitan who has a sunny location and who wants to sell his property advertises it as being in "The Banana Belt," regardless of its location. Even old timers disagree as to its precise location.

MILL VALLEY Councilman Peter Behr, now touring Southern Europe with his family, penned a note to his fellow lawmakers while sunning himself aboard the "Constitution" bound for Naples. He makes two interesting observations; one, "All serious problems are unsanforized and shrink to puny size in the salty water of the surrounding sea," and second, "There is no substitute for travelling with children and occasionally seeing a new world through their eyes."

It's amazing how a sea voyage brings out philosophical outbursts.

JUST 36 YEARS ago, the famed Tamalpais Tavern, atop the mountain, was destroyed by fire.

Mill Valley's Bill Feeney, retired from the telephone company, has a company magazine which says:

"On June 30 (1923) at 3:30 p.m., the Mt. Tamalpais Tavern was totally destroyed by fire. Owing to lack of water and other facilities for fighting fire, the building was quickly devoured by the flames. The damage caused was estimated at $75,000, mostly covered by insurance."

The story tells how phone repairman A. C. Shallock arrived soon after and had telephone service restored.

OUR WILDLIFE report this week concerns Ed Ryan, who clerks for "Del" De Lasaux in Mill Valley.

When customer Roy Ibach dropped in the other evening, Ryan was on his hands and knees carefully moving some bottles of wine from a lower shelf onto the floor. When about a dozen were out, he reached to the back of the shelf and carefully brought out a fledgeling sparrow which had flown into the store earlier in the day.

Ryan carefully carried the tiny bird to the store's back door and released it. Only then, did he return to wait on the fascinated customers.

PAINTERS ARE now engaged in transforming Sausalito City Council chambers from a nondescript tan to a delicate, cool green.

It's sad to see the long-patched ceiling covered, but progress cannot be halted.

THAT TRAGIC hotel fire at Stalheim, Norway, last week had a local touch.

One of the Americans in the hotel reported to have escaped unharmed was Mrs. Sidney S. Kahn, who divides her time between a San Francisco apartment and her home on Diviso Street in Tiburon.

WORK DEVELOPS YOUTH

Work, nom more recreation, for teenagers was the recommendation made at a recent conference of school superintendents.

Doctor Benjamin C. Willis, general superintendent of schools in Chicago, stressed that high schools students should be taught to earn "security" rather than wait for others to provide it for them.

He urged that constructive steps be taken to open up more job opportunities for young people. This, he claimed, would be far more beneficial than merely expanding recreational facilities under school auspices.

"Work," Doctor Willis said, "is tremendously important. If every business concern would offer full or part-time jobs in order to take kids off the street, we would not always be looking to recreation for the answer."

Do your bit to direct the God-given energies of youth into channels in which they can help earn their way as well as develop their hidden power.

"Every man shall receive his own reward, according to his own labor."
(1 Corinthians 3:8)

Instill in young people, O Lord, a strong desire to contribute to life rather than merely take out.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Need To Interpret School Cost Facts

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It is a responsibility of a newspaper to correctly interpret facts and figures used to support editorial views. The Monday, June 22, editorial gives a distorted picture of the amount of savings that can be obtained by unifying school districts.

If the categories of the students surveyed are multiplied by the quoted cost factors, the average cost in the non-unified district is $2.31 per day per student as compared with the $2.29 per day per student for the unified school districts Rather than the large savings indicated in the editorial, the actual saving amounts to approximately 2 cents per student.

Having recently experienced dealings with our local school board and school administration, I am convinced that small school districts permit the taxpayers and parents a far better chance to watch over the various phases of the school administration and prevent the school administration from completely dominating the school program.

I am in complete agreement with the view of the editorial that we should keep our schools financed as much as possible on the local level to keep control of the school program at the community level. Rarely does federal control bring any economy or efficiency because of the vast size of the organization.

That's all there is to it. Worth $30 to you?

The late Alben Barkley told the story of a certain minister who was fired summarily by his board of deacons, and put up a powerful protest. "Didn't I argufy?" he demanded. "Didn't I magnify? Didn't I glorify?"

"Yes," admitted the deacons, "You argufied, you magnified, and you glorified real good, but you never told us wherein. And we're out to get us a preacher who will tell us wherein."

Indian Dancers To Perform In San Rafael

If it starts raining Friday night in San Rafael, you can blame the Ki-Ann Indian dancers from Cheyenne, who will perform the famous snake dance with live reptiles at San Rafael High School gymnasium.

The San Rafael Exchange Club will sponsor the show at 8 p.m. Friday for the benefit of the Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., of San Rafael. Tickets are now on sale at the Golden Gate Finance Co., 882 Fourth street; Lloyd's Barber Shop, 819 Fourth street, and Bianco Motors, 1504 Fourth street, all in San Rafael.

The Ki-Ann Indian dancers are a group of "paleface" teenage boys of Cheyenne, who learned the authentic dances from the Hopi Indians.

Among the many dances on the evening's program is the snake dance, which Indians used to induce rain. Performers will be in costume and will use live bull snakes, king snakes and black snakes measuring nearly six feet long, according to Bruce B. Bales, committee chairman of the San Rafael Exchange Club.

Indian legend has it that time and again, drought areas have been blessed with rain after the ceremonial.

Marin To Be Quizzed On Polio Protection

Just how well protected are Marin County residents against the menace of polio?

A corps of volunteers, working under the direction of the Marin County Health Department, will set out beginning July 7 to learn the answer to that question.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said plans call for a sampling of some 450 families to determine the percentage which has been immunized against polio.

Most of the contacts will be made by telephone with the names to be selected an random, the health officer said. In some areas, however, house calls will be made.

"The purpose of the survey is to find out just how well protected Marin residents are against polio," Dr. Albrecht added. "If some groups appear to be adequately immunized, we will then plan ways of encouraging them to be vaccinated."

Co-sponsoring the survey with the health department are the Marin County Medical Society, the Marin County Chapter of the National Foundation and Marin Parent-Teacher Assn. units.

Information secured in the survey will be treated confidentially as far as individual answers are concerned. Only statistical summaries will be released.

Repeat Offender Draws Jail Term

A drunken driver from Hamilton Air Force Base must serve five days in Marin County Jail and pay a $250 fine for his second offense.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court sentenced John Richard McCullough, 31, of Headquarters Squadron, Western Air Defense Force, Hamilton Field.

McCullough was arrested on Highway 101 at Black Point cutoff June 21. He had a prior conviction last October.

Nudist Business Booms

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's nudist camp business is booming as a result of hot weather.

Dr. Douglas Gibson, head of the British Sunbathing Assn., said he expanded his retreat from 5 to 50 acres because of increased business. Charles McCaskie, 74, dean of British nudist camp leaders, said the number of sun bathers has doubled at his Hertfordshire camp on Sundays.

Stiff Penalty For July 4 Drunk Drivers

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Motorists who drive while drunk during the Fourth of July weekend will lose their driver's license for at least six months, State Motor Vehicles Director Robert I. McCarthy announced today.

McCarthy said his six-month minimum license suspension will be in effect between July 1 and July 6.

He said that six months suspension would apply to first offenders. Persons with a history of drunk driving would get even harsher treatment.

"The time for slogans in our efforts to pound some sense into the heads of irresponsible drivers is past," McCarthy said.

The move was the most severe of the current "get tough" campaign which McCarthy initiated when he was appointed to the motor vehicles job by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

McCarthy cited statistics which indicated that seven of 27 traffic deaths over the Memorial Day weekend were caused by tipsy motorists.

"It is becoming more and more obvious that drastic action is the only answer to our traffic problem," McCarthy said. "We are going to get progressively tougher in our dealings with drunk and reckless drivers.

Steps Taken For New Marin Highway Route

Action has been started for a state highway through central Marin County following Gov. Edmund G. Brown's signing of a bill authorizing new route to be added over a 20-year period to the state's highway system.

Action is being taken by the enlarged streets and highways committee of the San Rafael Chamber, which includes members of the same committee of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and representatives from Fairfax.

Letters are being sent to the respective city councils and to the Marin County Board of Supervisors requesting that they declare this new route as the No. 1 priority in Marin, and that letters be sent to the state Division of Highways requesting that planning begin immediately.

The route desired by the enlarged committee would begin at Highway 101 in San Rafael, and pass through San Anselmo and Fairfax. It would then turn north at San Geronimo, going through the Nicasio area and finally joining State Sign Route 1 in the Point Reyes Station area.

Endorsement of the general idea of a trans-Marin highway connecting the county's two main north-south routes was made several months ago by the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce.

Jerry Stone, San Rafael chamber of commerce streets and highways committee chairman, said:

"Although the new law does not permit any actual construction before 1963, we should plan now for the precise route we may desire. Not only will this route be a great boon to the commuter, but it will also open up the land development possibilities in central and west Marin. It may even encourage the county's agriculturists to do more purchasing in this county."

Small Car Overturns

Ingo Denies Report He'll Quit After Two More Bouts

GIANTS SEND SANFORD AGAINST BUMS TONIGHT

Two-Game Series Opens In L.A.; S.F. Defense Saves Antonelli

A half dozen of the finest defensive plays of the year sent the San Francisco Giants on the road today on a high note of optimism for their two-game series opening tonight in Los Angeles.

Three carbon copy double plays and a trio of back-against-the-wall catches in the outfield gave the Giants a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia yesterday and ended the home stand with a 7-6 mark.

"It was the greatest defensive display I ever saw or ever played in," said pitcher Johnny Antonelli, who chalked up his 11th win. "That was the luckiest game I ever pitched in my life. I couldn't make the curve ball work or get the fast one over the plate but those guys did everything behind me."

If the Giants can get that kind of support for the other moundsmen they should have a fine road trip. Tonight Jack Sanford comes off the injury list to hurl against Roger Craig of the Dodgers. Tomorrow night it will be Sam Jones against Don Drysdale.

ANTONELLI SHAKY

For brilliant defensive work, San Francisco fans never have seen anything like the game yesterday. Antonelli was in trouble in nearly every inning but the fielding plays saved him.

Richie Ashburn, 1958's National League batting champ, hit into three double plays. Each time he clouted the ball directly to the second baseman Daryl Spencer. Spencer scooped the ball underhanded shortstop Eddie Bressoud who threw to first baseman Orlando Cepeda for the second out.

"Every time I was behind him on the count," said Antonelli "so I threw him a fast one, and as luck would have it, he hit it to the same spot every time. (Ashburn said: "He threw a curve every time.")

If that wasn't enough to help Anonelli the outfield completed the day. In the second inning Willie Mays ran far to his left, leaped against the right field screen at the 370-foot mark and pulled in a ball hit by Harry Anderson that had been headed for extra bases.

Then in the eighth and ninth innings Jackie Brandt performed a pair of spectaculars. In the eighth, he made a leaping, over-the-rail catch of Dave Philley's potential home run ball.

In the ninth, Valmy Thomas hit one at the 365 mark that Brandt pulled down over the fence too. On this one the back of his left hand got hung up on some barbs and he suffered some scratches.

"When you get those kind of catches," said Philadelphia manager Eddie Sawyer, "you are bound to beat someone. As I've said before, we bring out the best in everybody. Ashburn's hitting into three double plays killed us."

FAST START

The Giants clinched the game in the first inning on consecutive hits by Jim Davenport, Mays, Willie Kirkland and Cepeda. Good for three runs. That drove starter Ramon Semproch to the showers. They got one in the third on singles by Davenport and Cepeda; and capped the show with two in the eighth on Kirkland's single, Cepeda's double and Brandt's home run.

Olmedo Downs Chilean, Gains Semi-Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Top-seeded Alex Olmedo of Peru smashed Luis Ayala of Chile 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 today for a semi-final berth in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

The lend-lease U. S. Davis Cup ace, now an overwhelming title favoriate, was joined in the round of four by Rod Laver of Australia, who won over Jean-Claude Molinari 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

After taking the first set on the famed center court in a fast-paced battle of big services and volleys, the copper-skinned Peruvian seemed to lose his concentration temporarily.

Olmeda missed several times on delicate drop shots just over the net and he lost some of the decisiveness of his cannonball service. He was broken in the third game when Ayala hit a sizzling shot in the corner and again in the final game when he double-faulted at set point.

ALEX RECOVERS

Olmedo recovered his poise in the third set and there was no question of the outcome of the match.

Covering the court with a panther-like quickness and hitting for kill after kill at the net, he had his South American neighbor at his mercy.

Laver, a speedy left-hander who may be Australia's ace in the hole, never gave Molinari a chance in their match, which lasted only 35 minutes.

The red-haired Aussie's whipping backhand and remarkable recovery tactics were too much for the French Davis Cup ace, who previously had beaten America's Gardnar Mulloy.

Hub '9' Wins Thriller In 12th Inning, 4-3

Marin County's winningest semi-professional baseball club —the Ongaro Plumbers of San Anselmo—chalked up consecutive victory number five yesterday with a thrilling 4-3 12-inning victory over the Ross Furniture Co. team of San Francisco.

The three-hour struggle at San Anselmo's Memorial Park, one of the best played games in these parts for many years, was busted up in the bottom of the 12th inning when Don McGinnis singled into centerfield to score Tim Reardon from second base. Reardon was on with a walk and moved to second when Johnny Boccabella drew a free pass.

Ace left-hander Bob DeRosa went the distance for San Anselmo for his fifth decision. However, he saw his brilliant string of scoreless innings snapped on a freak home run in the fourth inning. Until that time DeRosa had blanked opposition for 36 consecutive innings. The string-breaker started out as a single, but it took a bad hop and rolled for a homer.

That tied up the game at 1-1 as San Anselmo had scored in the third inning when De Rosa got to first on an error, was sacrificed to second by Reardon and scored on Brad Bryon's single to left.

Then the see-saw struggle began. The Plumbers took the lead by 2-1 in the fifth on a walk to DeRosa, another sacrifice by Reardon and John Boccabella's single to right.

The visitors knotted it up again on three hits in the sixth and it stayed at 2-2 through the regulation time and up to the 11th inning when the invaders took a 3-2 edge on a pinch homer by veteran pitcher Frank Gamba.

All appeared lost for Manager Dom Boccabella's Plumbers in the bottom of the 11th when the first two batters went out. But then veteran Lou Campredon opened the door with a single, followed by successive solos by Doug Wilson and DeRosa with Campredon scoring the equalizer.

The latter, a real hero, retired the Furnituremen in order in the top of the 12th and then watched McGinnis deliver the victory blow in the bottom of the frame.

Bryon, Campredon and McGinnis each garnered two hits in the victory.

The Plumbers will be idle over the Fourth of July weekend, but will meet Petaluma Leghorns at Petaluma on July 12, San Quentin at the prison on July 19 and St. Helena Blue Sox at San Anselmo July 26.

57 Runs Scored In Double-Header At Mill Valley

Mill Valley Little League may have to buy a new home plate. The old one must have become worn out after a double-header Saturday that saw 57 runs scored in the National League. The games saw the Yankees in a 24-12 rout of the Giants and the Realtors 16-5 over the Merchants.

Friday in the American League the Eaglets bombed the Indians, 11-4.

Standings: American League —Eaglets 4-3, Tigers 4-3, Indians 3-4, Braves 3-4; National League—Realtors 6-0, Lions 3-2, Yankees 3-2, Merchants 1-4, Giants 0-5.

TIBURON BOWS TO SAN JOSE BY 4-1 COUNT

Nesbit Masonry team, composed mainly of San Jose State College players, chalked up a 4-1 victory over the Tiburon Pelicans at Tiburon yesterday—the hosts' second straight setback after four consecutive wins.

Tiburon was held to four hits, two by Mike Curry and one each by Ron Stuart and Hal Owens. Curry's sixth-inning double drove home Stuart with the Pelicans' only run.

Buzz Wensloff went the distance for Tiburon, giving up single runs in the third, fifth, sixth and ninth innings.

New Champion Expects To Keep Fighting 10 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, the new heavyweight boxing champion of the world, denied a Swedish report today that he planned to retire after two more fights.

"I expect to keep fighting for the next 10 years," the 26-year-old Swede said shortly before departing by air for a Florida vacation.

In Goteborg, Dr. Gosta Karlsson, Johansson's personal physician and adviser, said upon arriving from New York that the champion would limit himself to two title defenses and then quit.

Johansson does not wish to risk serious ring injury, the doctory added.

But Johansson quickly spiked retirement talk.

"Why should I stop now that I am on top," he told The Associated Press. "That statement in Goteborg is all wrong. I'll keep fighting for the next 10 years at least."

"I cannot understand why that statement was made," the champion said, referring to Karlsson's comments.

Karlsson was in Johansson's corner Friday night when Ingemar stopped champion Floyd Patterson in the third round.

The doctor said Johansson planned to defend against Patterson and then have one more bout, possibly against Zora Foley or Eddie Machen.

FLORIDA VACATION

Johansson denied the report before he and his family departed for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they will visit with friends.

The handsome champion, however, verified another report that he had been made an attractive movie offer, which might bring him as much as $400,000.

Emphasizing that his first thoughts were in beating Patterson in their return bout, tentatively scheduled for September, Ingemar said: "Yes, maybe I make a movie after the September fight."

Johansson said he had been approached by Columbia Pictures. Commenting on a possible acting career, the young Swede said, "Why not?"

Belvedere Team Upsets Cal Champs

Two of the Belvedere Tennis Club's women players, Gayle Wold and Barbara Hultgren, scored a major triumph yesterday in the Oakland City Tennis Tournament by defeating Helen Hampton and Valeria Williamson, state doubles champions for 1959, by a score of 2-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Marin Team Wins First League Tilt

Fred Shotwell drove across two runs with three hits yesterday to lead the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3570, composed of Marin County players, to a 9-6 victory over the San Francisco Scavengers in San Francisco.

It was the Marin team's first game in the Class AA San Francisco Recreation League at Big Rec.

Besides Shotwell, Ron Blum with two hits and Ron Clack with a double were Marin's leading hitters. Tom Leps went the distance on the mound.

Westlakers Whip M.V. '9'

Hard-hitting Westlake Merchants rolled up a 17-7 decision over the Mill Valley Merchants in their semi-pro game yesterday at Mill Valley.

The visitors blasted four pitchers for 17 hits, including two home runs, in handing Mill Valley its second loss against as many wins.

Hitting stars for Mill Valley were Don Palaia with three singles and a double in five atbats. Bill Jambois with three for five and Gary Conwell with three for three.

Ricki Treacy Wins Adams Cup Test; Gordon Nash Captures SFYC Regatta

By ALFRED MATSON

Saturday Ricki Treacy convincingly proved her right to represent northern California in the semi-finals of the Adams Cup Eliminations by sailing the Harpoon of the 210 class across the finish line in first position. It was the third and final race of the series and as she was tied with Jocelyn Nash of the Richmond Yacht Club, a win was vital to perpetuate the dream of further successes and final attainment of the Adams Cup, emblematic of the Women's National Sailing Championship.

The next step up the ladder will be the semi-finals in Seattle July 21-24. Four races will be run and in boats of the Dragon class. And if Ricki continues her winning ways against that opposition, her next and final port of call will be Rye, N.Y. the week of Aug. 24. That's the big one and let's hope she brings home the bacon.

WE WOULD be highly remiss in not giving the crew their proper share of the glory; a good crew is a prime essential for winning yacht races. A nice hand, please, for Betty Potter and daughter Susan of Mill Valley and Sharon Cross of Belvedere.

THE WEEKEND, however, was not a total loss for the Nash family. Jocelyn's loss on Saturday was considerably mitigated by a spine-tingling win yesterday by the other half of the family, Gordon, in his 110 class Javelin, in the San Francisco Y.C.'s Syra Regatta.

The races were held in Raccoon Strait and with a brisk breeze to urge them about the course, the entire program was wrapped up in jig time. The lads from the Sausalito Y.C. made it one-two-three in the Mercury class; Jim Enzensperger made the winner's circle with his Frenzy, Tak Kuwatani had the Opus II in strong contention all the way and eased into the second spot and John Koenig was never far off the pace in the Si-Com-No to take third place honors.

THE WINNER of the Clipper class also was a representative of the Sausalito Y.C. Don Elliott, in the Viva, showed the balance of the fleet the way around the course and in the procession, the Berserk of Ted Chiswell's, SFYC, was next in line, followed by the Crazy Horse owned by Mike Wornum of the same club. Winners in the other SYRA classes were Gordon Miler's Zodiac in the Zephyr class and the Sea Eagle owned by Joe Crosby in the B-B class.

THE LIGHTSHIP race had a near record turnout of 116 entries.

One of the biggest upsets occurred in the Cruising Club "C" division with the lightly regarded Numse, owned and sailed by Dr. Maurice Smith of the S.F.Y.C. The winner, on corrected time over some tough competition including the Buoyant Girl which even with tiller-wizard Myron Spaulding in command, could do no better than second place.

Southpaws Star In Bums' Pennant Bid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sweden's Ingemar Johanssen won the world heavyweight boxing title by unleashing a murderous right hand.

Los Angeles' Dodgers are hoping to win the National League baseball championship with left hands belonging to southpaw pitchers Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Danny McDevitt.

Thanks to these three left-handers, the Dodgers today are in second place, only a game behind the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, and riding a seven-game winning streak. The trio has won five of the seven games, including the last three.

Yesterday it was McDevitt's turn as the Dodgers thumped the Pittsburgh Pirates for the third straight day, 9-4. Milwaukee protected its lead with a 2-1 squeaker over Chicago. Third-place San Francisco whipped Philadelphia 6-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader, 9-7 and 11-8.

Cleveland remained a game in front of Chicago in the American League, sweeping Boston 5-4 and 1-0 as the White Sox were turning back the New York Yankees twice, 9-2 and 4-2. Detroit whipped Baltimore 7-2 and Washington defeated Kansas City 7-3.

The Dodgers inflicted the 10th defeat upon three-time winner Bob Friend, pounding out 11 hits, including home runs by Gil Hodges, Don Demeter and Charlie Neal. McDevitt got his fourth straight victory and seventh of the season although he needed help from ace Don Drysdale in the ninth.

Eddie Mathews' 23rd home run and Del Crandall's scoring single after first baseman Dale Long had dropped his foul pop-up were enough for Juan Pizarro to register his first triumph for Milwaukee.

Johnny Logan, Braves' shortstop, was lost to the team for 10 days when he was spiked on the right ankle, requiring 20 stitches.

BOMBS AWAY

A total of 18 pitchers were batted for 53 runs and 35 hits in the Cards' sweep of Cincinnati. Six home runs were hit, four by the Reds. Cincinnati's Pete Whisenant hit two, both in the first game, when the Reds nearly overcame an 8-2 deficit.

St. Louis also nearly dissipated a big lead in the second game. The Cards built up a 9-0 lead for Dick Ricketts but the rookie right-hander was knocked out in the seventh when Cincinnati tallied eight times.

Jerry Lynch got five hits in the two games for the Reds and Don Blasingame, Joe Cunningham and Dick Gray got four hits each for the Redbirds. The Reds lost catcher Ed Bailey for a week or so with a split finger.

Two Giants Named On All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore's amazing knuckleballer and Lew Burdette, Milwaukee man of many deliveries, loomed today as the probable starting pitchers in the 26th major league All-Star game, in Pittsburgh, Tuesday, July 7.

The pitchers, as well as the alternates, will be named by last year's pennant-winning managers later in the week. Each team will have 25 players. The players picked for the July game also will play in the second All-Star game in Los Angeles, Aug. 3.

The two managers—Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees and Fred Haney of the Braves—are authorized to add three more players for the second game.

The managers had nothing to do with the selection of the eight starters, picked by the players themselves.

The only unanimous selection was Milwaukee's Henry Aaron, who joined San Francisco's Willie Mays and Los Angeles' Wally Moon in the National League outfield. Two other Braves — catcher Del Crandall and third baseman Eddie Mathews—made the N.L. team, along with first baseman Orlando Cepeda of the Giants, second baseman Johnny Temple of the Cincinnati Reds and shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

Cleveland and Chicago had two representatives each in the American League's lineup. Rocky Colavito and Minnie Minoso of Cleveland join Detroit's Al Kaline in the outfield. Shortstop Luis Aparicio and second baseman Nellie Fox of the White Sox form the keystone combination with Bill Skowron of the Yankees at first base and home run leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington at third.

Gus Triandos, Baltimore's slugging receiver, beat out Sherman Lollar and Yogi Berra, for the No. 1 catching job.

Neither Stengel nor Haney has given any indication as to which pitchers they will name. Based on their 1959 records, the following may be chosen:

National League — Right-handers Burdette of the Braves, Don Drysdale, Dodgers; Elroy Face, Pirates, and Don Newcombe, Reds. The left-handers may be Johnny Antonelli, Giants; Warren Spahn, Braves; Johnny Podres, Dodgers, and Wilmer Mizel, Cardinals.

Crawford Whips Luceti To Capture NCAA Golf Crown

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Husky Rick Crawford has taken the NCAA individual golf crown back to the University of Houston where it remains for the third straight year.

The Houston sophomore, celebrdating his 20th birthday, won the 62 annual tournament Saturday by defeating San Jose State's Jack Luceti 7 and 6 in the 36-hole finals.

Crawford—only No. 4 man on the Houston team which won its fourth straight team championship — follows two previous Houston champions, Rex Baxter in 1957 and Phil Rodgers in 1958.

Crawford played two-over-par golf in the final round. Luceti went nine over on the par 37-34—71.

Beavers, Red Sox Tied In Gallinas League

The Beavers and Red Sox each won two games without a loss last week to take the lead in the first week of the second half of the Gallinas Valley Little League schedule.

In third place are the Lions and Odd Fellows each with a 1-1 record while the Redwood Sports Shop and Merchants are in the cellar with 0-2 records.

Tonight the Beavers take on the Lions at Castro Field, Santa Venetia starting at 6:30 o'clock.

DeMaestri Hurt, Out Of Lineup

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Joe DeMaestri, Kansas City shortstop, was lost to the Athletics for about two or three days when he injured an ankle in practice Saturday night.

DeMaestri was hit by a ball in practice. He is expected to be back in the lineup the latter part of this week, however.

CHICAGO OPEN WINNER

Venturi Thrives In Bad Weather

CHICAGO (UPI) — A veteran's know-how and bad weather practice paid off with $9,000 today for San Francisco's Ken Venturi.

Venturi slashed through winds reaching 30 miles per hour in gusts for a last round 66, four under par, in the Chicago Open to overcome a five-stroke lead held by 23-year-old Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La., in the final 18 holes and take the title with 273, seven under par, for the 72 holes, compared to 72 for Pott, who posted his second straight two over par.

It was the second straight year that Venturi has won the Chicago Open crown, and his victorious total this year was only one stroke higher than the 272 with which he won in 1958. The victory was only his second since he grabbed the crown here last year, and that other triumph, in the Los Angeles Open, also was a come-from-behind effort, in bad weather.

The victory increased Venturi's total earnings for 1959 to $19,237.27, the single prize nearly equalling his earlier sum, and Pott, for finishing second, picked up more money then he had earned in all previous tournaments, totaling $8,607.46 for the year so far.

Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif., took a last round 68 for a 276 total and third money of $3,000, and Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., grabbed the fourth prize of $2,600 with a last round 72 for 277.

Montana Girl, Connie Towers Has Gone Far In Last Year

By DOROTHY ROE

For a girl from Whitefish, Flathead County, Montana, Connie Towers has gone far.

In the last year she has:

1. Snatched the starring feminine role in one of the season's biggest movies, "The Horse Soldiers," from under the noses of hundreds of experienced hopefuls.

2. Spent three months on location in Louisiana, the only girl among 500 men.

3. Played opposite her idols, John Wayne and Bill Holden, under the direction of another idol, John Ford.

4. Married a Panama millionaire, Eugene Charles McGrath, whom she met on the set in Louisiana when he dropped in to see his friend, John Wayne.

Tall, blonde, blue-eyed and devastating, Connie says:

LUCKIEST GIRL

"I guess I'm just about the luckiest girl in the world. On top of everything else, Gene is enthusiastic about my career and wants me to go right on making pictures. He can travel with me when we shoot on location, and that makes everything just perfect."

Becoming a movie star isn't all champagne and roses, however, says Connie. When Ford picked her for the part of Hannah Hunter, rebel captured by Yankee soldiers, she had to learn to ride side-saddle and spent much of her time falling into mud holes during the shooting.

"I was covered with mud, aching in every muscle, had no makeup on and my hair was a mess when John Wayne introduced me to Gene," says she. "I guess I never looked worse. But he didn't seem to mind."

Born in Montana, Connie learned to ride and rope at an early age. She studied voice at the Juilliard School in New York when her father's business brought the family east. Her current starring role is her first movie part, although she has appeared in night clubs and summer stock for several years.

CORNED BEEF

During the filming of the picture in Louisiana, Connie earned the ardent admiration of all 500 members of the cast by cooking them corned beef and cabbage and chocolate fudge.

FAMILY DESERVES IT

Sense, Not Dollars, Buys This Fire Insurance Policy

NEW YORK—(UPI)—It's the middle of the night.

For a reason you don't comprehend, you're tossing and nearly awake.

You draw in a deep breath and get the reason. Smoke.

Instinctively, you shake your husband and tell him:

"The house is on fire."

If next, you bolt out of the bedroom, you might be signing a death sentence for the family.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, you or your husband should place a palm against the door. If the door is hot, the hall is filled with deadly heated fumes waiting to choke the life out of you.

If the door is hot, arouse other members of the family by shouting. If there's a phone in your bedroom, call the fire department. Hang out the window and try to arouse the neighbors or a passer-by.

If the palm-test tells you the door isn't hot, place one foot at the bottom, bracing it. Open the door enough to stretch one arm into the hall to feel the heat. If it isn't abnormally hot, then you can feel relatively safe about leaving the bedroom and hurrying other members of the family out of the house.

When you wiggle your arm through the door for the heat test, keep your face inside and turned away from the door. If there are deadly fumes, you will get less of them.

Every family, according to the board, should have a fire escape plan—well rehearsed and understood by all members of the family.

If the bedrooms are on the second floor, think out two emergency exits. It is unlikely that both will be blocked.

Night fires may start when oily rags, packed in an airless cupboard, smoulder and break into flames. This is spontaneous combustion. The same thing can happen to stacks of papers heaved against the furnace or near the hot-water heater.

If someone's clothing catches on fire, smother the flame with a rug, coat or blanket. Do this head-first. Otherwise you force the flames up toward the face.

In the kitchen, grease-laden stoves and ovens are a hazard. If a grease fire breaks out, don't throw water on it. That will only make it burn more.

If the grease fire is in a pan, put a lid on it or throw handfuls of baking soda or salt on the fire.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Lynn Eckersley to Gilbert Mattos of San Rafael was announced yesterday at a cocktail party in the Kentfield home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Eckersley.

William Stiveson, the bride's brother, served the bridegroom as best man, and escorting guests to their seats were Michael Brown and Robert Warne, all of Mill Valley.

The mother of the bride was gowned in French blue chiffon with hat and shoes to match and wore a wrist corsage of pale pink begonias.

Coming for the wedding from Campbell, Ohio, were the bridegroom's brother John Horvath Jr. and sister Mary Horvath, and his mother, Mrs. John Horvath, who wore a blue silk print dress with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of tangerine begonias. The bridegroom's father was unable to be present.

The newly married pair greeted some 60 wedding guests at the Mill Valley Country Clubhouse following the ceremony. Wedding bells formed the top decoration of the four-tiered wedding cake. In charge of the guest book was Melody Yoell of Corte Madera.

When the young couple left for a honeymoon to be spent driving through Washington and Oregon, the bride was wearing a two-piece beige raw silk suit with matching velvet cloche and accessories.

On their return they will be at home to friends at 104 Eldridge avenue, Mill Valley.

Barbara was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended the College of Marin one year before she was employed in her present position of teller at the American Trust Company Bank in Sausalito.

George was educated in Ohio schools before he served three and a half years as sergeant with the U.S. Air Force, stationed at the 666th Air Control and Warning Squadron on Mt. Tamalpais. He is now in his second year at the College of Marin, where he is preparing to be a chemical engineer.

IN CORTE MADERA

Virginia L. Dyer Weds James L. Ross

Virginia L. Dyer became the bride of James L. Ross Sunday, June 28, in a 3 o'clock ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera.

For the double ring rites performed by the Rev. Gerald Moyer the church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, gladioli and daisies.

When the bride was given in marriage by her father, Glen Scott Dyer of Tamalpais Valley, she was wearing a ballerina length gown of white nylon organdie. It had a full skirt sprinkled with vari-colored flowers below the waistline, and a fitted bodice with square neck and short puffed sleeves.

A white lace cap trimmed with rhinestones held her short veil, and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white carnations.

The matron of honor, the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Stephen Dyer of San Anselmo, was attired in a blue lace sheath and matching cap. Paulann Ross, the bridegroom's sister, wore a sheath of yellow nylon flocked with white flowers, and a white headband. The flowers of both were yellow carnations.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ross Jr. of Tamalpais Valley, was Jerry Moyer of Corte Madera, and ushers were the bride's brother, Stephen Dyer of San Anselmo, and Dave Moyer of Corte Madera.

The bride's mother wore an aqua linen jacket dress with white hat and accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom chose an orange sheath with bolero jacket. A black hat with short veil completed her costume. Each had a corsage of white carnations.

Among those attending the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCruden of Mill Valley, and her other grandmother, Mrs. James McNabb of San Francisco, and the grandfather of the bridegroom, Paul H. Ross of San Francisco.

Approximately 150 guests were invited to the reception held after the ceremony at the church. The two tiered wedding cake was decorated on top with the miniature bride and bridegroom that had been the ornament on her parent's wedding cake. Jean McKay of Larkspur was in charge of the guest book.

The young couple will be at home to friends after July 5 at 867 Lincoln avenue, San Rafael.

The bride was a junior this year at Tamalpais High School and will complete her education next year. Her husband was graduated last year from Tamalpais High School and is in the reserves of the U.S. Marine Corps. He is employed at a market in Terra Linda.

Garment Manufacturers Ask To Right Irksome Essentials

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Let fashion designers keep their heads in the clouds, for new creations come from dreaming. But, please, dear garment manufacturers, haul yourselves down to earth and harken to the things which irk us females.

The other day I devoted a column to "Why Don't They?" concerning things about the house. The fashion people escaped; I ran out of room.

But there are plenty of "Why Don't They?" which women write or call in.

I've been saving 'em up, so here goes and let us hope that everyone benefits—the manufacturers in more sales, the women in more for their money.

Why don't they?

—Find another way to make a neat fit without a zipper up the back of the dress. What woman hasn't had a back zipper stuck on the hottest day of the year? And closing some of those back zippers calls for the suppleness of an adagio dancer, the help of husband or a kindly elevator operator.

—Make all dress belts contoured. Many manufacturers even in the better-dress category still aren't contouring.

—Make the backing on all belts of some material which will clean or wash, depending on the care the garment itself gets.

—Make proportioned blouses as well as proportioned dresses, slips and hose for the short, medium or tall.

—Make longer shirt tails on blouses.

—Invent a surefire way to keep a blouse tucked in a skirt.

—Make those inner constructions or lining for sheath dresses, costumes and skirts of nonshrink material.

—Eliminate once and for all the skirt too narrow for easy walking. So what's wrong with a back or side pleat?

Make buttonholes to fit buttons. Most holes become too large and don't hold after a garment has been through a couple of washings.

—Help us to keep those "white touches" white by attaching collars and cuffs with snaps instead of thread.

—Furnish matching hatpins for ALL hats, whether from hat bar or "name" designer.

—Include a couple of extra, matching buttons with any suit, coat, dress, negligee, et cetera. The better manufacturers usually do this; all others should copy.

—Make earrings to "go with" all those new hues — blues, greens, and roses—in jewelry.

—Do a better job of attaching buttons, hooks and eyes and other fastenings. They have a nasty habit of coming off after one or two wearings.

—See that no garment leaves the factory without a decently even hemline.

Well, that is the list as of now. To anyone who wishes to add, or challenge, I'll listen.

The Heart of the Matter

IF YOU do business in Marin, and want to do more than a neighborhood trade, there is one best way to build and grow. That way is to follow the example of practically every successful Marin enterprise—advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The I-J covers the entire Marin Market. Nearly 100% of the 25,000-plus circulation is home delivered—right on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin families. This is paid-for and wanted circulation—no throwaways or free copies are included.

The reasons for the often amazing response to I-J advertising are simple: While the I-J is a complete NEWS-paper, the people in the compact, self-contained community of Marvelous Marin buy it for the ADVERTISING as well as for news and features.

Mr. and Mrs. Marin study the I-J carefully every day for "news" of what merchants and professional services are offering. Its pages are their No. 1 guide in buying and saving and operating the "business" of home-making efficiently and economically.

Don't Spare The Rod Completely, But Use It To Get Lessons Across

Why do we punish our children? What punishment is best? Punishment is a headache for every one of us.

As I see it, the one good reason for punishing a child is to teach him a lesson. The only reason is to help him improve his behavior. That means we don't punish for revenge. We don't swat a young'n just to prove we're stronger than he is. Our goal is to build, not destroy. To teach, not to injure.

Children are different, Some are sensitive, some not. Some fight back, some retreat inwardly. A few are very anxious to be good and very quick on the uptake. They may never need corporal punishment. But most children repeat their mistakes. They know that playing with matches is forbidden. But they play with them anyway.

We must punish to get our lessons across. My most important suggestion is that you always use the mildest punishment that will teach the needed lesson. Don't spank until you have to. Deprive them of things. Restrict them. Explain to them. Try to make any punishment come as a natural consequence of the offense.

Save the spankings for the few most worst offenses. Then they'll be helpful. Overdo the spanking and you increase the troubles. Experiment carefully. What works today may not work tomorrow. What succeeds with one child fails with another. Don't be afraid of reasonable rewards. And don't forget, encouragement can forestall punishment.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, June 29, the 180th day of the year, with 185 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this date in history:

In 1577, the Flemish Painter Peter Paul Rubens was born.

In 1852, the former senator, speaker of the house, secretary of state and three-time presidential candidate Henry Clay died in Washington.

In 1946, British arrested 2,700 Jews in Palestine in an attempt at stamping out terrorism.

In 1954, Guatemalan rebels completed a 12-day revolt by overthrowing a pro-Communist government.

A thought for today: Henry Clay said, "I would rather be right than be president."

Governor Shows Political Know-How In First 6 Months

(First of several dispatches reviewing the record of 1959 session of the Legislature).

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The dominant figure in the 1959 session of the Legislature was Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The 53-year-old chief executive, in office only six months, figured strongly in almost every major achievement recorded by the Legislature.

He suffered some stinging defeats, too, particularly in the final hours of the session when a strange coalition of Democrats dedicated to organized labor and a solid bloc of Republicans in the Assembly killed his bill to set up a "code of ethics" for labor unions.

Brown came into office last January with a reputation of being a genial, smiling, handshaking Irish politician. Privately, some of his supporters in the Legislature expressed doubt whether "Pat" had enough leadership to sell the lawmakers his program for "responsible liberalism."

But at the end of the six-month session, there wasn't a man in the Capitol who doubted Brown's ability or leadership. In fact, he put so much heat on the lawmakers that Joe Shell, Republican leader in the Assembly, complained the governor was using "Huey Long tactics."

Surrounded by a team of able and practical politicians and blessed with a 47-33 Democratic edge in the Assembly and 28-12 break for his party in the Senate, Brown piled up an impressive list of achievements.

Perhaps his greatest victory was in healing the wounds of five bitter years of North-South strife and winning Assembly and Senate approval of his water program.

If voters in the 1960 election approve, the state will launch a $1,750,000,000 water construction program.

On another front, the governor scored an unquestionable victory for what he calls "fiscal responsibility" by getting 85 per cent of his $256,000,000 tax program through both houses.

He stepped into the governor's office facing a state budget deficit estimated at about two hundred million dollars by mid-summer 1960.

He had to fight every inch of the way—but Brown finally got through a $215,000,000 tax program which will put the budget in "shaky balance" next year.

Brown called it a "balanced" tax program because it hit both big business and the consumer.

One of his infrequent defeats, however, came in the tax battle. Oil interests succeeded in convincing an Assembly committee and it dumped the governor's bill to levy a $28,600,000 severance tax on the extraction of oil and natural gas.

As for his program for "resible liberalism," the governor got the four bills he wanted most—although he lost almost all of his labor reform proposals.

From a national standpoint, and Brown seems well on his way to becoming a man to be reckoned with when Democrats choose a presidential candidate in 1960, legislative approval of a Fair Employment Practices Act was a big victory.

He also succeeded in abolishing cross-filing, which Democrats have been after for years.

And despite loud cries from Republicans, the Legislature went ahead and gave him permission to create two new state agencies—a counsel to "protect the consumers' interests" and an economic development agency to lure business to the state.

Added to the list of Brown victories were bills dealing with air pollution, narcotics, highway safety, installment racketeering and narcotics.

On the other side of the ledger, the governor was something less than successful when he tried to sell the Legislature his labor-management reforms.

First farm groups pressured a Senate committee into dumping a proposed minimum wage for farm workers. Then the same committee killed Brown's bill to repeal the Jurisdictional Strike Act.

Labor wanted both measures and when they fell, the AFL-CIO turned the heat on the administration's measure to regulate the conduct of union affairs.

That bill fell on the final day by a vote of 50-29 in the Assembly with 31 of 33 Republicans in solid alliance against the measure.

Democrats professed to see some consolation in the results, however, saying it gave Brown and other Democratic office holders a campaign issue for the 1960 state elections.

Sonoma Fair Boasts Many New Facilities

Visitors to this year's version of Northern California's largest County fair, the Sonoma County Fair and Exposition, July 16-25, will find a number of improvements in the facilities on the 160-acre fairgrounds at Santa Rosa.

Included will be a new enclosed arena for polo, horse shows and rodeos. Constructed of redwood set in concrete, the arena measures 360 feet by 150 feet. Seating is provided for 3,000.

A new $65,000 quarters for jockeys has been constructed at the race track. Modern new offices have also been built for the track stewards and other race officials.

OUTDOOR THEATER

The outdoor theater built last year to house the free professional stage shows has been improved with a banked earthwork to support the grandstand and curtain the spectators against the prevailing west winds.

The 1959 program will actually get under way July 15 with pre-fair judging of 4-H clothing, domestic arts, handweaving, ceramics, pottery and leathercraft exhibits.

Opening day, July 16, has been designated as Veterans' Day. The new rodeo and polo arena will be dedicated. The first of 10 days of harness, quarter horse and thoroughbred racing will be held. There will be judging of the community booths and a number of other exhibits. A fireworks display in the evening will conclude the day's activities.

RACING DAYS

July 17 will be Russian River Area Day with more judging, horse racing, plus bantam car races and arena polo. On July 18, Petaluma Day, more racing, polo, and judging are scheduled. Sheep dog trials and "barnyard Olympics" events including calf scrambles will be a special feature of Farmers' Day on July 19.

The first performances of the free professional vaudeville show will be seen July 20 at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m.

GRANGE DAY

July 21 will be Santa Rosa Day with the carnival gayway opening at noon. Grange Day and Women's Day will be observed July 22 with more racing and vaudeville plus the introduction of visiting Grange guests.

On July 23 visiting legislators will be honored on Legislative Day. The same date has also been designated as Lake County Day and Youth Day.

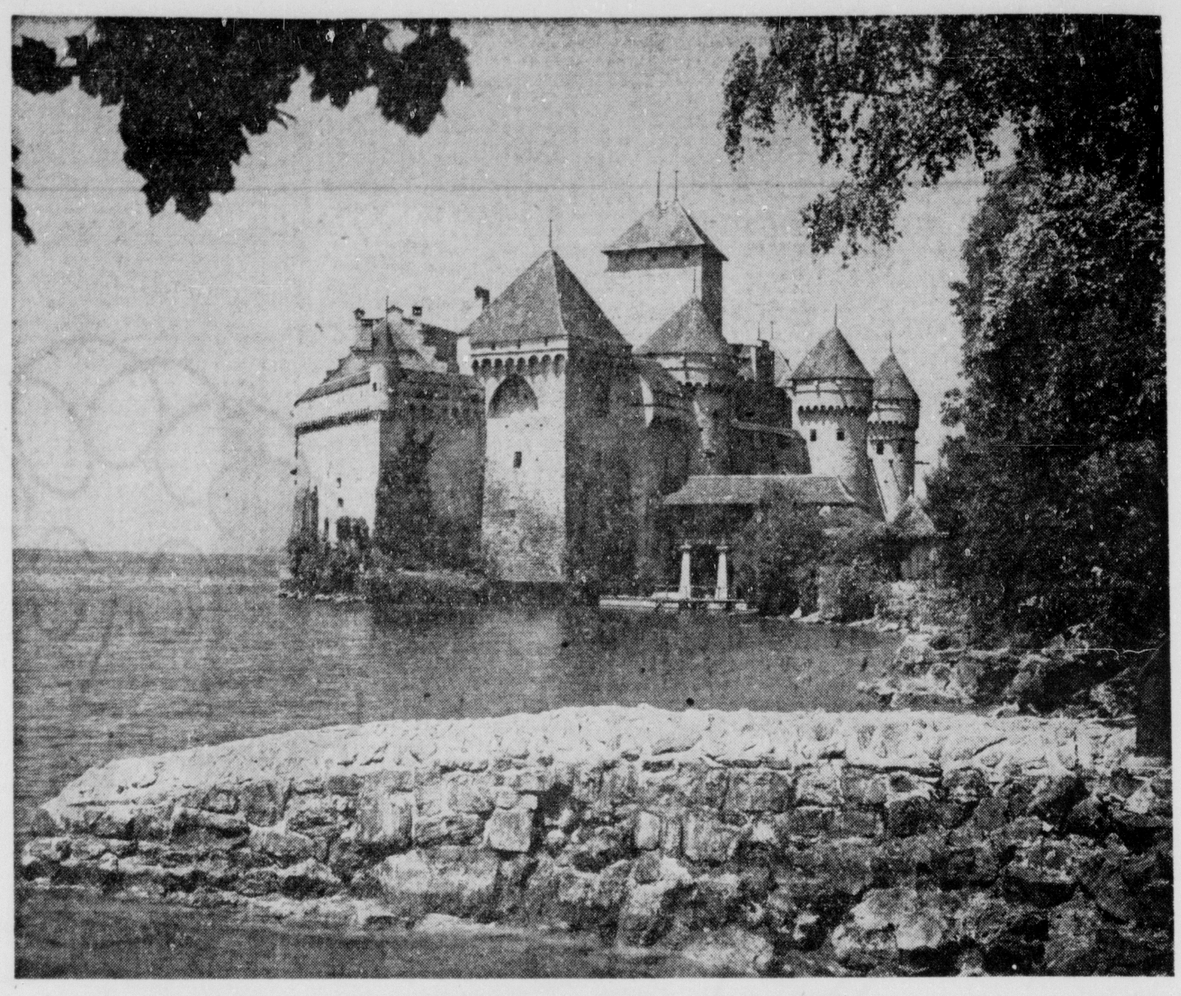

July 24 is both Golden Gate Bridge District Day and Redwood Empire Day. A junior livestock auction of 4-H and Future Farmer fat cattle is scheduled for that evening, to be followed by the annual rodeo.

The rodeo will be repeated on July 25, closing day of the fair, along with more horse and car racing.

It will mark the 22nd annual fair since the revival of the event in 1936 with one idle war year.

The tour group is now being formed, under sponsorship of the Independent-Journal, for 20 days in Europe at the bargain cost of $1,049.60. Persons interested in making the trip are urged to register early, using coupons appearing regularly in the I-J.

Brown Signs Bill Upping Compensation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation boosting workmen's compensation was signed today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who endorsed the bill after its terms were worked out by labor and management negotiators.

It raises maximum tempory disability benefits from $50 to $65 a week, permanent disability indemnity from $40 to $52.50 a week, and total death benefit from $12,000 to $17,500.

The bill by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) also increased the death benefit for a widow with one or more minor children from $15,000 to $20,500 and the burial expense allowance from $400 to $600.

Life pensions for total disability were increased from 40 per cent to 60 per cent of average weekly earnings.

San Rafael Council To Study Budget

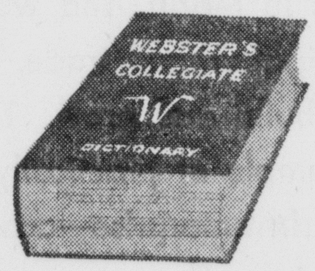

San Rafael city councilmen will sit down tonight at 7:30 in the city hall to begin the task of analyzing a $2,102,374 city budget as proposed by City Manager Dan E. Andersen for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

The preliminary figure is up approximately $8,000 over the 1958-59 budget total. But Andersen has said he hopes that his propsed budget can be financed under the existing property tax rate of 96 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

LAW IN ACTION

Drivers, Walkers Have Duty To Be Careful

(This column, prepared by California lawyers, appears regularly in the Independent-Journal.)

Both drivers and walkers have a legal duty to be careful; but since drivers do the greater harm, they have the greater duty.

Pedestrians have a legal right to expect drivers to obey traffic rules. Thus one pedestrian crossing the street, looked left, then right, but didn't see a car coming down the left side of the street to his right. It hit him. The court held the walker didn't have to share the blame: he could legally assume the driver would go down the street's right side.

In passing cars, drivers must watch out for pedestrians who may not see them, especially on crosswalks where walkers have the right of way. (As well as on sidewalks and highway shoulders.)

BAD JUDGMENT

A walker's bad judgment or mistake may not excuse a motorist in an accident. The driver should allow a wide margin for such errors.

As a walker, though, you too have a legal duty to be careful, to consider how dark the street is, the color of your clothes, your age, the speed and closeness of oncoming cars, and the like.

Still a pedestrian's lack of proper care does not give a driver a right to hit him; he still should try to avoid a mishap, no matter who is to blame.

NEGLIGENCE

When a walker disobeys traffic laws himself, his folly may help bring on his injuries and thus lose him his right to recover damages. For example, when you walk outside a cross walk, yield to car drivers; for if you are hit you may not be able to get damages for injuries.

Most of all the law holds a driver ought to give special care for small children. They do play around driveways and are impulsive. So warn them before you back into the street and make sure they are safe.

You have a legal duty to look for workers protected by signs, flares, or red flags on the highway. The law expects such workmen to spend their time at work and not in dodging cars.

The Red Cross is the only volunteer society authorized to render aid to the Medical Department of the U.S. Army.

Marin County Savings AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

SINCE 1886 Marin County Savings and Loan Association has been an integral part of the Marin County business community, concerned with its improvement and growth.

Prominent citizens have been the backbone of our organization and early investors were such public-spirited men as Thomas Wintringham, Salvatore Pacheco, William Vanderbilt, F. M. Angelotti, Richard Kinsella, William Babcock, P. H. Cochrane, James W. Cochrane, Hepburn Wilkins, George Cheda, Arthur Crosby and C. Grosjean. Other well-known early-day residents of Marin County who invested in our firm were E. S. Rake, Evan C. Evans and Frank K. Zook.

Senator E. B. Martinelli, legal counsel in the early 1900s, was the first of three generations active in Marin's oldest savings firm. His son, Judge Jordan L. Martinelli, is now president of Marin County Savings and Loan, while the third generation is represented by Jordan L. Martinelli, Jr., secretary and assistant manager.

Marin County Savings and Loan Association's policy of assuming definite community responsibility for Marin County development is accelerated under the vigorous leadership of Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president and manager. The board of directors, management and staff give generously of their time towards beneficial community activities and are currently active in such worthwhile community organizations as:

DEAR MARINIANS:

Please forgive me if I pass you by with a far away look in my eyes. Summertime is my favorite season — when vacation dreams come true. To me, the beauty of Spring is the promise of Summer with visions of swimming, boating, camping and hiking.

We're delighted with the compliments we've been receiving on our smart swimwear and sportswear. Our fine quality (mostly drip-dry) require the minimum care and your youngsters will look well-dressed for any occasion. Our Sacony separates include shorts, skirts, Bermudas, Capris, Jamaica, shortalls and T shirts to match.

I wish you could hear the remarks of people who stop to look in our windows. They really rave about our darling Nannette dresses, many sleeveless, and all have luscious colors. Our Ship 'n' Shore sleeveless blouses and fine Carter sleepwear get their share of "ohs" and "ahs". We carry sizes to 14 for girls and to 8 for boys.

We don't gush over boys' clothes, but they're tops in quality and style just the same. Healthtex T shirts, shorts, slacks, etc. have a wonderful reputation, as do Billy the Kid and Kwiki. Please come in soon.

Thank you,
Henrietta

Island Needs Keeper; It's Nothing Fancy

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The National Park Service has decided Anacapa Island needs more attention.

It is going to send a keeper there this summer.

Don Robinson, superintendent of the Channel Islands National Monument, said applicants shouldn't expect anything fancy.

Anacapa, one of the Channel Islands, is 10 miles off Port Hueneme, just south of Ventura.

Robinson visited it last summer and found a dozen families camping there and enjoying it. That was when he decided a keeper should be there during the summer.

Anacapa, which is really three small joining islets, is six miles long, a mile wide, and rises, 1,100 feet at its highest point. It is inhabited by about 15,000 seals, pelicans, cormorants, rabbits and rare American bald eagles.

The ranger will stay at French's Cove, named for a real hermit called French, who once lived there. He will be six miles from a U. S. Coast Guard station on the other side of the island.

He will get $700 to $800 for the summer service. Two of French's four cabins will be rehabilitated for his use.

Space Chess

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)— A three-dimensional chess game utilizing 128 pieces has been developed by J. David Marks— who says he wants to provide amusement for anyone fascinated by space relations.

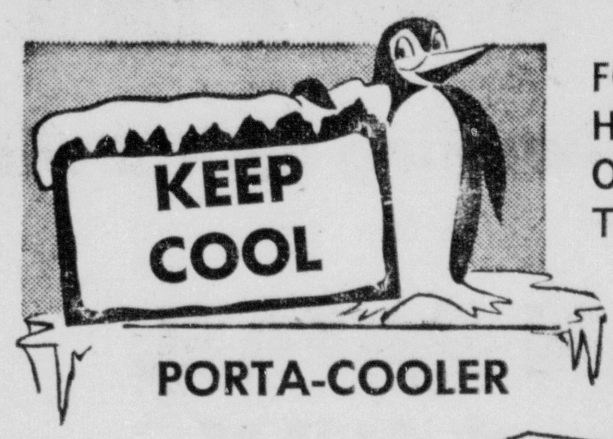

Some additions have been made to the chess board, such as the space knight, the hippogriff (a mythological crossbreed of an eagle, lion and horse), the fool, the favorite and the archbishop.

Be Explicit, Please

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey gets some odd letters but this one from Lexington, Va., probably takes the cake.

Vacationers Warned To Keep Watch For Rabid Wildlife

BERKELEY (AP)—With the outdoor vacation season at hand, campers received a word of caution today: Don't expose yourself to rabid wildlife.

The warning came from Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, director of the State Health Department.

Campers who sleep on the ground in open areas where rabies exists in wildlife, he said, should take precaution against attack, especially from skunks.

He suggested that campers sleep off the ground and in a tent which can be fastened tightly so as to keep out prowling animals.

From Jan. 1 through June 15 there have been 64 cases of rabies reported in animals in California. Forty-four were in skunks, 11 in cattle, 3 in foxes, 2 in horses and 1 each in a cat, dog, bat and raccoon.

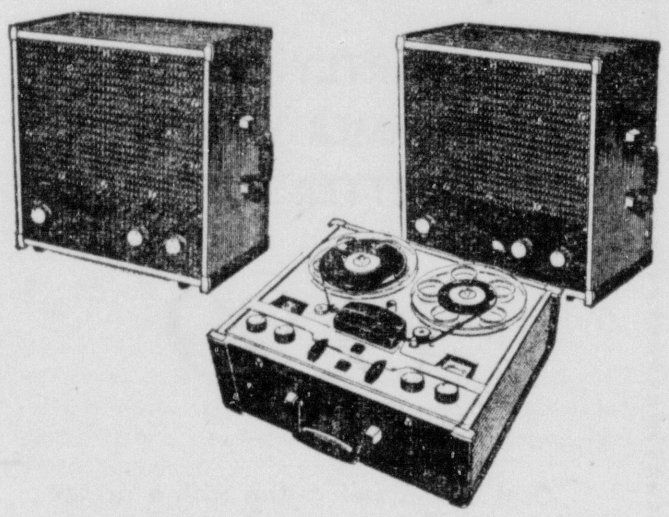

Cases of rabies have been found in 41 California counties although none has been recognized above the snow line.

Abroad By Car

An all-time high of 200,000 Americans will spend at least part of their 1959 European vacations motoring on European roads and highways, it was predicted today by the International Travel Department of the American Automobile Assn. The AAA forecast is double the anticipated 1958 figure.

Available in a budget-priced kit, complete with color film, operating manual and booklet of hints for taking movies.

Ki-Ann Indian Dancers To Give Show In Marin

Thirty-five high school boys from Cheyenne, Wyo., will stomp out authentic Indian dances while attired in irreplacable handmade costumes of beadwork and featherwork in a performance July 3 at 8 p.m. at San Rafael High School's gymnasium.

The group, known as the Ki-Ann Indian Dancers, was founded 12 years ago. The costumes are made by the boys and are estimated to be worth $30,000. During a single performance it is usual for the group to change costumes and equipment some 20 to 50 times.

A snake dance will be performed with a live snake.

The teen-age boys, all of them in high school, have made Indian lore their spare time hobby.

Their San Rafael performance will be sponsored by the San Rafael Exchange Club for the benefit of Guide Dogs for the Blind of San Rafael.

Tickets are on sale in San Rafael at Golden Gate Finance Co., 882 Fourth street; Lloyd's Barber Shop, 819 Fourth street, and Bianco Motors, 1504 Fourth street.

Camera Adds Lasting Fun To Vacation

It's just two weeks with pay, but you can make your vacation trip last the year around by taking your camera with you.

Pictures are much better than notes or your own memory to keep alive the many moments and scenes that make pleasure travel an exciting and meaningful experience.

A little extra care applied to your picture-taking will result in photographs you'll look at again and again and your friends will enjoy.

First: know your camera. If it's a new one, shoot a roll or two of film before leaving, to get the feel of the camera. Study up on the areas to be visited . . . you'll get better pictures, have more fun because you'll know what to look for.

Always have your camera loaded and ready for action. You never know when the next picture will happen!

Don't include too much of the sky in your pictures unless you're photographing interesting cloud formations.

Distant mountain scenes are best photographed in bright sunlight with a foreground of branches.

Beach scenes are the most popular of vacation subjects. Keep them simple. Watch out for cluttered backgrounds of beach umbrellas, people and buildings.

When photographing architectural landmarks, from India's Taj Mahal to the Coit Tower overlooking San Francisco Bay, no special problems should arise.

Remember, however, that people almost always enhance a photograph. Everybody has seen postcard pictures of Notre Dame in Paris, but a shot of a coiffed nun escorting a group of French kids in front of the cathedral will have life and individuality.

Vacation Job Picture For Students In Marin As Good As Last Year

The vacation job picture for students in Marin is good this year, "as good as last year, maybe a little better," accord ing to Edwin Ayer, manager of the San Rafael office, state Department of Employment.

Ayer said his office has received about 650 applications for summer jobs from vacationing students, and has, in the short period since the county's schools closed for the summer, placed about 50 in jobs.

Many others have already obtained their own jobs, he noted.

Most jobs offered for boys have been in the field of yard work, helper for the home handyman, etc., he said, with a few offers of jobs as boat builders' helpers also on file.

For girls, jobs have included positions as inventory clerks in stores, and a few as office workers.

Ayer said his office and the five-member Marin Youth Employment Committee have been distributing posters and mail pieces reminding employers of the summer job potentialties of students and urging them to list available jobs with the employment office.

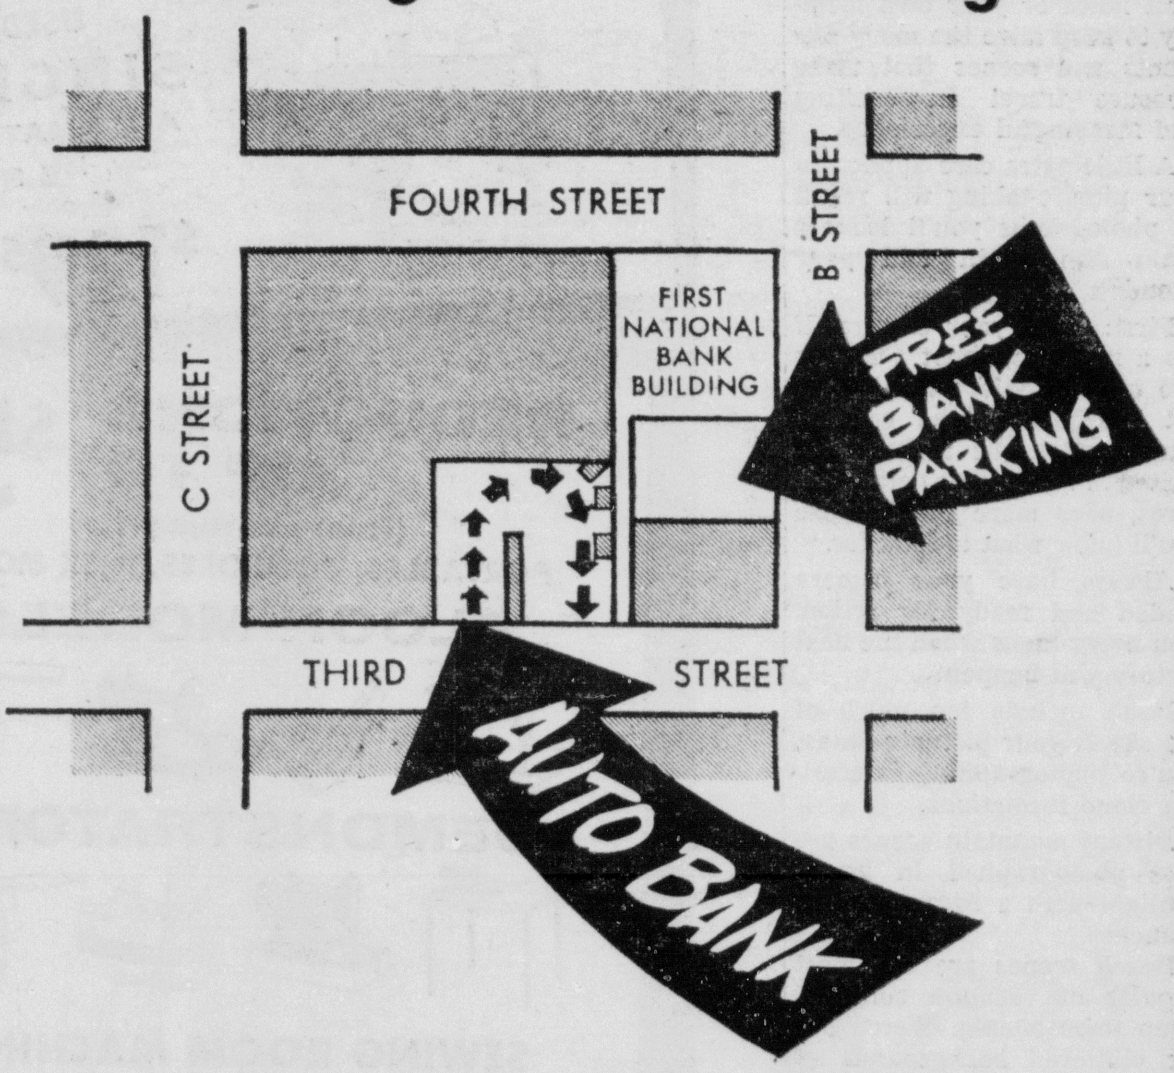

Meanwhile, the Labor Department issued a reminder that many summer jobs may be filled by students without violation of the federal child-labor law. Maximum working periods are eight hours a day, between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. and 40 hours a week.

Youngsters under age 18 may not work at "hazardous occupations" such as truck driving or equipment operating.

Railroad trains in Switzerland have an anti-slip brake which removes the need for sanding rail lines before trains can pass through high, snow-covered mountain passes.

Bay Area Has Vast New 'Frontier,' Executive Tells Sausalito Rotary

The vast lands lying between Vallejo and the Marin-Sonoma region are a "Frontier," ready and capable of industrial development, according to Fred F. Enemark, president of the Marin County Savings and Loan Assn., and incoming president of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

Speaking before the weekly luncheon of the Sausalito Rotary Club at the Alta Mira Hotel, Enemark said, "In the 125 miles stretching from the Golden Gate Bridge southward to San Jose and along the east side of the Bay, then northward to Vallejo, there is a series of strip cities with no such frontier for industrial development."

He called attention to the area near Vallejo as being available and suitable for utilization with facilities already in existence for deep water, rail and major highway transport.

"An airport is the only major facility lacking and we're working on that," he said.

Urging Marin residents to take advantage of the possibilities for nearby commercial growth, Enemark declared:

"Every residential unit built in Marin results in a deficit on the tax rolls since its demands for services far outweigh its tax return."

Stressing the necessity for industrial growth, Enemark maintained that "assessed valuation of an industrial plant would top the valuation of a large number of homes," pointing out that a hypothetical plant with 100 employees would represent a million-and-a-half-dollar investment.

Yosemite Park Adds Store, Restaurant For Visitors

The newly opened Village Store and Restaurant in Yosemite National Park represent the greatest improvement in visitor facilities since the completion of the Yosemite Lodge in 1956, according to John C. Preston, Yosemite superintendent.

Along with the store and restaurant building, Yosemite Park and Curry Co. also recently put into service a central warehouse of 48,000 square feet in which all supplies are received, stored and transhipped to the many points of use within the park. In this building's basement are located all maintenance shops.

The Village Store is located on a bypass road in the valley, while the warehouse is situated in an obscured area near the north wall. It is accessible only by service roads.

The store proper contains 15,500 square feet. As it must provide for the needs of the visitor population, most of whom are campers, and the local population as well, the store carries the wide variety of merchandise associated with the general store of the past. The stock must include lamp wicks and axe handles as well as the great assortment of frozen, fresh and canned foods offered in city markets.

In the 300-foot long building a coffee shop and fountain is located between the store and restaurant. Seating 50, it will provide quick meals during a long span of hours. At the building's south end is the restaurant. It seats 150 and will be more elaborate in service than the coffee shop with a general restaurant menu.

Construction costs to Yosemite Park and Curry Co. for the restaurant, store ran about $800,000; for the warehouse and maintenance building, about $700,000. The removal of the old store structure has allowed a site of considerable beauty and vista to be returned to its natural state. Likewise, an uncluttered view of Yosemite Falls was made possible by the razing of the old warehousing and maintenance structures.

National Park Service Director Conrad L. Wirth cited the project as the concession company's participation in Mission 66, a 10-year rehabilitation project launched in 1956 and embracing all national parks. In addition to new buildings, the program calls for improved roads, bridges and camping facilities.

The principal aim of the Mission 66 program, Wirth said, "is to preserve the natural beauties and values of our national parks and monuments, while at the same time providing for their maximum use and enjoyment by present and future generations."

Wirth said the problem of "reconciling use and preservation" is not an easy one. He cited the contributions of the Curry Co., including its president, Mrs. Mary Curry Tresidder.

The Mission 66 program, envisions total spending of 800 million dollars on the national parks and monuments, he said, and nine million dollars has been spent in Yosemite.

Unlucky Punch

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — A boxing match here ended with the referee out cold. The referee charged that one of the fighters, the Fiji light heavyweight champion, deliberately aimed the paralyzing right cross at him because the boxer did not want him to officiate. The champion claimed the blow was accidental.

Don't Forget Fido When You Vacation

If you must leave your dog behind when you go vacationing and you haven't a friend who's able to take him in, your only alternative is a boarding kennel.

Since you'll no doubt enjoy your vacation more if you know Fido is getting the best of care while you're away, Bob Bartos, research kennel manager advises that you don't wait until the last minute before deciding on a kennel.

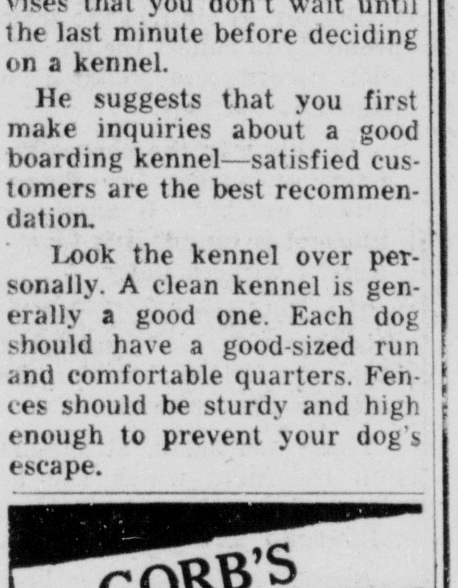

He suggests that you first make inquiries about a good boarding kennel—satisfied customers are the best recommendation.

Look the kennel over personally. A clean kennel is generally a good one. Each dog should have a good-sized run and comfortable quarters. Fences should be sturdy and high enough to prevent your dog's escape.

New Tires

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans will buy a record 63,500,000 replacement tires for their cars this year—about two million or three per cent more than in 1958, industry sources predicted.

Going Too Fast

WINCHESTER, Va., (AP) — A merchant here who put cider jugs on the street in front of his store found the product going too fast. The cider was moving faster than the cash register. To slow the movement down he ran a chain through the handle holes of the jugs.

Last Billion Easiest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Stock Exchange, which now lists more than five billion shares, added its last billion in less than three years, against 137 years required for the first billion.

There's A New 'Quake Watcher' In S. F.; It Helps Cover The West

By RENNIE TAYLOR

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Uncle Sam is tightening up his earthquake-watching system in the western states.

A new high-sensitivity instrument, installed on solid rock in San Francisco, informs the watchers instantly whenever there is an earthquake of importance anywhere.

If the earth movement is in any of the western states or in the western parts of Central or South America, the watchers are equipped to get experts on the scene quickly.

The idea is to get first-hand information of things exactly as the quake left them.

Scattered throughout this American earthquake belt are 77 strong-motion seismographs installed by this watching system—the field seismopgraphic survey of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic survey.

Normally left untended, these instruments do not record a quake unless there is an appreciable ground movement in their immediate vicinity.

The high-sensitivity instrument, called a teleseismic recorder, stands in the field survey office in the U. S. Mint, a massive structure anchored in solid rock but no longer used to coin money.

Whenever a quake occurs, Thomas Pearce, assistant chief of the service, compares data by telephones with seismographic laboratories in Berkeley or Pasadena and determines the center. If it is near one of his 77 strong-motion installations he gets some member of the survey staff to the scene promptly to collect the one-the-spot record and make first-hand observations.

In this way the characteristics of quakes are determined quickly. If anything unusual is found, it is investigated without delay.

The field service is putting seismographs in individual buildings in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas.

These are small, strong-motion recorders which use ordinary two-gallon stainless steel soup kettles for covers.

About 50 of these have been set up in the Los Angeles area. Another 45 are going into buildings in the Bay Area.

They go into buildings with different geological underpinnings.

In any given earthquake, each instrument will make its own individual record. The building on a fill may be shaken differently than others nearby, even though the same quake does the shaking. From these differences, says Pearce, engineers should be able to figure out what kind of buildings to put up on a given type of terrain.

Studies by Dr. Paul R. Needham, University of California zoology professor, indicate that the cutthroat trout really is only a subspecies of rainbow, rather than being a separate species as long believed.

BUILT-IN LOOK—This electric range-oven offers that built-in look as is. Or it hangs on the wall at desired height, or as a standing unit has its own handsome base (as shown). Surface units slide completely out of sight when not in use.

New Electric Ranges Decorative, Practical

One of the big hits at appliance shows across the country this year is the decorative electric range designed to fit into any kitchen.

The models on display—whether 30 or 40 inches wide—make cooking practically automatic.

Some ranges have extra high-speed automatic cookers on the surface. Others have browning units incorporated in the oven to give color and crispness to food. Still others have ventilating systems built in.

One of the more fascinating ranges produced for middle income families is the built-in unit that allows microwave cooking. This electronic marvel saves minutes for the busy homemaker by giving her new speed and convenience in cooking. The electronic range compares in price with a deluxe model of a conventional electric range.

One manufacturer has developed a 40-inch range with all automatic electric speed cooking. This range has a 23-inch oven that can hold up to four pies on one shelf and will roast a huge turkey. Roasting pans slide in sidewise so there is room for other food. An electric rotisserie is removable. The oven on this range will cook a complete meal for six persons.

Another manufacturer has come up with a range that can be hung on the wall or set on a kitchen cabinet, eliminating the need for remodeling the kitchen. This range has two side-by-side ovens with glass doors that permit the homemaker to see the whole cooking area. One door swings out to the right and the other to the left and each door has cool-grip handles. A removable rotisserie can be mounted in one of the ovens.

The range with the ventilation system of its own is a delight for the person who plans to give better electrically. This range makes one of 1959's finer gifts for the new homemaker or the family planning to remodel their kitchen.

The system has two fans inside the range to pull cooking odors and vapors through two small removable filters. The filters are made for a lifetime and can be cleaned in a dishpan. The fans are easy to reach for cleaning by removing a panel on the front of the range.

One fan in the system is automatically timed and the automatic clock on the range will turn it off even if the homemaker has left the house.

Some Safety Hints For Night Driving

If you must drive at night, learn from the "pros," who ply cross-country in the world's biggest trucks while most of the nation sleeps:

Keep your eyes moving all the time. The "pros" shift their view across the area just beyond their headlights every two seconds, and every five seconds they check the rear-view mirror.

This "conscious" activity tends to keep you alert, and helps you see the all-important signs placed alongside the road.

Checking the rear-view mirror tells you where the cars behind are at all times — knowledge that may save your life.

Be sure to cut speed at least 10 to 15 m.p.h. below daytime levels. Maintain a distance of two car lengths for each 10 m.p.h. unit.

Autos Of Future?

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A glass automobile may be in store for the future, says Dr. George B. Watkins, chairman of the technical policy committee of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. Dr. Watkins said it is forseeable research will produce a transparent material which, when laminated with glass, "will result in a transparent composite capable of functioning as a structural member in automobile bodies."

Higher Education Aid

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Colleges and universities have received $121,000 in gifts during the last year as a result of the B. F. Goodrich Co.'s aid-to-higher-education program, the company has annouced.

Arty Specialist

Orient-Pacific Lines Ships Link Bay Area, Far East Via Tourism

The vast, colorful Pacific area — one of the "last frontiers of tourist travel" — can be enjoyed by voyagers sailing on one of six of the world's biggest, fastest, most modern ships.

Since 1957, The Orient and Pacific Lines with its fleet of 28,000-ton liners has linked the West Coast, the Orient and the Far East!

The Orient and Pacific Lines, a subsidiary of England's historic Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company (P & O), joins Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles with Honolulu, ports of Japan, Hong Kong and Manila.

The other links the West Coast with Honolulu, the Fiji Islands and Australia.

The new fleet provides approximately 20,000 additional passenger berths in the Pacific each year and makes 24 voyages annually.

Liners now operating are the Orcades, Orsova, Oronsay, Himalaya, Chusan and Arcadia.

In 1960 two brand-new ships will be added to the service. They are the 40,000-ton Oriana and the 45,000-ton Canberra — the two largest ships to be built in Britain since the Queen Elizabeth.

Also serving the Pacific area are the American President Lines and the Matson fleet.

Burncoat Head, Nova Scotia, on the Bay of Fundy has the highest tide in the world. They range from 46 to 54 feet above low water.
